SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Section 837.055, F.S., currently makes it a first degree misdemeanor to knowingly and willfully give false information to a law enforcement officer who is conducting a missing person investigation or a felony criminal investigation with the intent to mislead the officer or impede the investigation.

The bill increases the penalty to a third degree felony if a person knowingly and willfully provides false information with the intent to mislead or impede a law enforcement officer in a missing person investigation involving a child 16 years of age or younger, and such child suffers great bodily harm, permanent disability, permanent disfigurement, or death.

On December 14, 2011, the Criminal Justice Impact Conference determined that the bill will have an insignificant prison bed impact on the Department of Corrections.

The bill is effective October 1, 2012.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Senate Select Committee on Protecting Florida's Children

On August 10, 2011, in the wake of the Casey Anthony verdict, Florida Senate President Haridopolos created the Senate Select Committee on Protecting Florida's Children.¹ The committee was charged with examining the various policy options to further advance the protection of children and determine whether changes to current law were needed. The committee identified and examined the relevant laws on child abuse and providing false information in missing children investigations. Particular attention was given to ss. 827.03² and 837.055, F.S., and their relationship to the circumstances in the Anthony case.³

After reviewing these laws and receiving testimony from child abuse officials, law enforcement entities, prosecutors, and defense counsel, the committee recommended the creation of a third degree felony offense for persons who knowingly and willfully provide false information to law enforcement with the intent to mislead or impede a missing child investigation when the child is 16 years of age or younger and suffers great bodily harm or death.⁴

Providing False Information to Law Enforcement during an Investigation

Section 837.055, F.S., provides it is a first degree misdemeanor⁵ to knowingly and willfully give false information to a law enforcement officer who is conducting a missing person investigation or a felony criminal investigation with the intent to mislead the officer or impede the investigation.

Effect of the Bill

The bill implements the recommendation of the Senate Select Committee on Protecting Florida's Children by amending s. 837.055, F.S., to make it a third degree⁶ felony for persons to knowingly and willfully provide false information with the intent to mislead or impede a law enforcement officer in a missing person investigation involving a child 16 years of age or younger, when such child suffers great bodily harm, permanent disability, permanent disfigurement, or death.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends s. 837.055, F.S., relating to false information to law enforcement during investigation.

Section 2. Provides an effective date of October 1, 2012.

¹ Caylee Anthony was almost three years old when last seen alive on June 16th, 2008 at the Anthony residence. She was reported missing by her grandmother on July 15, 2008. Casey Anthony, the mother of Caylee, was indicted on charges of first degree murder, aggravated child abuse, aggravated manslaughter of a child, and providing false information to law enforcement and she pled not guilty. Caylee's skeletal remains were located in a wooded area near the family residence on December 11, 2008. On July 5, 2011, the jury found Casey Anthony not guilty of murder, aggravated child abuse, and aggravated manslaughter of a child, but guilty of four counts of providing false information to a law enforcement officer. Anthony received a sentence of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine for each count.

² Section 827.03, F.S., relates to abuse, aggravated abuse, and neglect of a child; penalties.
