SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The recent enactment of the Military and Overseas Voter Empowerment (MOVE) Act with the Military Defense Authorization Act (Public Law 111-84) expands the rights of voters subject to the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act. At a minimum, the MOVE Act allows uniformed services members and their spouses and dependents absent from their place of residence whether inside or outside the United States, and civilians overseas to:

- Submit a request for and receive a voter registration application and an absentee ballot request form by mail or electronically,
- Receive from the supervisor of elections a blank (unvoted) absentee ballot by mail or electronically,
- Require the blank (unvoted) absentee ballot to be sent by mail or electronically no later than 45 days before an election, and
- Track via a free access system whether the voted absentee ballot has been received.

The bill adds a definition of "absent uniformed services voter" and amends the current definition of "overseas voter" to conform to changes in federal law. This definitional change makes clear that uniformed services voters who are stateside, but away from their place of residence, are governed the same under the Florida Election Code as are those voters who are overseas.

Upon receiving a request for an absentee ballot, the supervisor of elections must notify an absent uniformed services voter or overseas voter of the free access system designated by the department for determining absentee ballot status which is a new federal requirement. Timeframes for sending an absentee ballot and methods of transmission of the ballot to the absent uniformed voter and the overseas voter are amended to conform to recent changes in federal law. The bill requires the department to prescribe rules for a ballot to be sent to absent uniformed services voters and overseas voters if candidate certification for election cannot be accomplished within specified timeframes. It amends provisions relating to the federal postcard application to conform to the use of means other than mail to send an absentee ballot and to remove language regarding its two year effectiveness as registration, which was recently removed by changes to federal law.

The bill requires the supervisor of elections to record an overseas voter's e-mail address, if provided, in the voter's request for an absentee ballot, in the absentee ballot record. The bill then expands the information that a supervisor of elections must provide an overseas voter via e-mail to include confirmation of the ballot request and notification of the estimated date the ballot will be sent to the voter and confirmation of the receipt of the voted ballot.

The bill takes effect upon becoming a law.

There is an indeterminate fiscal impact on state expenditures and a possible minimal fiscal impact on local governments. See "Fiscal Comments."

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

The Florida Election Code (Chs. 97-106, F.S.)

An overseas voter¹ may request an absentee ballot or apply for voter registration with a Federal Post Card Application obtained from a Voting Assistance Officer or through the Federal Voter Assistance Program of the U.S. Department of Defense. Florida law specifies that the absentee ballot will be mailed if the ballots are available for mailing and if the registration information provided is in order. The postcard application request for an absentee ballot is effective for elections through the next two general elections.² Florida law also allows the overseas voter to request an absentee ballot by calling, mailing, faxing or e-mailing the supervisor of elections.

A supervisor of elections is required to record specific information for each request for any absentee ballot received; such as date of the request, date the ballot was delivered, date the ballot was received by the supervisor, and other information deemed necessary. The information is provided in electronic format, updated each day, and provided to the Division of Elections of the Department of State. Information collected is confidential and is made available only to the voter on request or to certain specified other groups.³

Under the Florida Election Code, an absentee ballot requested by an overseas voter who is qualified to vote must be mailed by the supervisor of elections not less than 35 days before the primary election and not less than 45 days before the general election.⁴ Forwardable mail is the method of transmission

¹An overseas voter is defined in s. 97.021(22) and clarified in the definition of "uniformed services" in 97.21(38), F.S., as a member of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, the commissioned corps of the Public Health Service, and the commissioned corps of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration while in the active service who is a permanent resident of the state and is temporarily residing outside the territorial limits of the U.S. and the District of Columbia; a member of the Merchant Marine of the U.S. who is a permanent resident of the state and is temporarily residing outside the territorial limits of the U.S. and the District of Columbia; and, any other U.S. citizen who is a permanent resident of the state and is temporarily residing outside the territorial limits of the U.S. and the District of Columbia, who is qualified and registered to vote as provided by law. Florida elections law does not include a definition for "absent uniformed services voter" as is provided in the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act (UOCAVA).

² See s. 101.694, F.S.

³ See s. 101.62(3), F.S.

⁴ See s. 101.62(4)(a), F.S.

specified for voters who are entitled to vote by absentee ballot under the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act.⁵

If an overseas voter's request for an absentee ballot includes an e-mail address, the supervisor of elections must e-mail the voter a list of candidates who will be on the ballots. The list of candidates for the primary and general election must be sent no later than 30 days before each election. Information pertaining to whether the absentee ballot was sent or received is not required.^{6,7}

Absentee ballots received from overseas voters are presumed to be mailed on the date provided on the outside of the return envelope regardless of the absence of a postmark date on the envelope or a date that is later than the election date.⁸

The Department of State is required to determine if secure electronic means can be established for receiving ballots from overseas voters. Additionally, if security can be established, the department is required to adopt rules authorizing a supervisor of elections to accept a request for an absentee ballot or a voted absentee ballot from an overseas voter by secure facsimile transmission (fax) or other secure electronic means. Acceptance of a voted ballot requires verification of the voter, security of the transmission, and the recording of each ballot.⁹ The department has adopted a rule allowing overseas voters to receive their blank ballot by mail, fax, or e-mail. Voted ballots, however, must be returned by mail or fax.¹⁰ As provided in law, the department may authorize other methods of returning voted ballots if it determines that secure methods can be established.

As of this date, the Department of State has authorized only one secured electronic transmission program. In the 2008 General Election, the Okaloosa County's Distance Balloting Pilot Program (ODEP) in conjunction with Operation BRAVO Foundation was implemented. Supervised absentee voting kiosks were established at U.S. military installations in Mildenhall, England; Ramstein, Germany; and Kadana, Japan. Each kiosk location permitted voting by secure electronic remote voting technology under the management and control of the Supervisor of Elections. These voting stations were connected by a secure Virtual Private Network (VPN) to a secure voting server in Florida. Ninety-three ballots using 23 different ballot styles were cast in the 2008 election.¹¹

Recent Changes in Federal Law Relating to Military and Overseas Voters

The Military and Overseas Voter Empowerment Act (MOVE) was signed into law on October 28, 2009 as part of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2010¹². The MOVE Act amends the Uniformed and Overseas Citizens Absentee Voting Act (UOCAVA) which pertains to absentee voting for members of the United States uniformed services and merchant marines who are overseas or absent stateside from their place of residence, their family members who are also absent, and U.S. citizens residing outside the U.S.¹³ Some provisions pertain to new requirements concerning state actions while others relate to the U.S. Department of Defense. Additionally, some requirements impact the November 2010 General Election while others take effect after the 2010 General Election. UOCAVA and MOVE pertain only to Federal elections. The following provisions take effect prior to the 2010 General Election:

- Each state must establish procedures that allow UOCAVA voters to request voter registration applications and absentee ballot applications by mail or electronically for general, special, primary, and runoff elections for Federal office. Voters must be able to state a preference for how information is to be received. The state must transmit voter registration applications and absentee ballot applications based on the preference of the voter or in accordance with state law, if no preference is given, or if there is no state law, then by mail.

- Each state must designate at least one means of electronic communication for use by voters to request voter registration or absentee ballot application and for the state to send such information and to provide UOCAVA voters with election and voting information. The means of electronic communication must be included on all information and instructional materials sent with the ballot materials.
- Each state may provide a means of electronic communication for jurisdictions in the state to communicate with UOCAVA voters.
- Each state must develop procedures for transmitting blank ballots to UOCAVA voters, including military stateside, by mail and electronically; must include a means for the voter to designate how he or she wants to receive the ballot, by mail or electronically; and must send the requested information based on the stated preference. To the extent practicable, privacy and integrity of absentee ballots must be protected as well as the privacy of the identity and personal data of the voter throughout the transmission process.
- Each state chief election official must work with local jurisdictions to develop a free access system allowing a UOCAVA voter to determine if the voted absentee ballot was received by the election official.
- Absentee ballots must be sent 45 days before the primary and general elections -- applies to all UOCAVA voters. Provision for certain waivers regarding timeframes is established for states.
- Any runoff election must have a written plan to make absentee ballots available to UOCAVA voters with sufficient time to vote.
- The federal provision allowing one request to serve as a request to receive absentee ballots through the next two federal general elections is repealed.¹⁴

On December 31, 2010, the use of the Federal Write-In Absentee Ballot (FWAB) is expanded to include all special and primary elections as well as general elections for federal office.

Provision is made for financial assistance in implementing MOVE. There is a 5 percent match requirement.

Effect of the Bill

The bill adds a definition of "absent uniformed services voter" and amends the current definition of "overseas voter" to conform to changes in federal law. This definitional change makes clear that uniformed services voters who are stateside, but away from their place of residence, are governed the same under the Florida Election Code as are those voters who are overseas.

Upon receiving a request for an absentee ballot from an absent uniformed services voter or an overseas voter, the supervisor of elections must notify the absentee voter of the free access system designated by the department for determining absentee ballot status which is a new federal requirement. Timeframes for sending an absentee ballot and methods of transmission of the ballot to the absent uniformed voter and the overseas voter are amended to conform to recent changes in federal law, including the transmission of an absentee ballot by facsimile or electronic mail. The bill requires the department to prescribe rules for a ballot to be sent to absent uniformed services voters and overseas voters if candidate certification for election cannot be accomplished within specified timeframes. It also amends provisions relating to the federal postcard application to conform to the use of means other than mail to send an absentee ballot and to remove language regarding its two year effectiveness as registration, which was recently removed by changes to federal law.

The bill requires the supervisor of elections to record an overseas voter's e-mail address, if provided, in the voter's request for an absentee ballot, in the absentee ballot record. The bill then expands the information that a supervisor of elections must provide an overseas voter via e-mail to include confirmation of the ballot request and notification of the estimated date the ballot will be sent to the voter and confirmation of the receipt of the voted ballot.

¹⁴ Florida law requires ballots to be sent through two general elections.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

Indeterminate. See "Fiscal Comments."

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

Indeterminate. See "Fiscal Comments."

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

None.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

Correspondence from the Florida Association of Supervisors of Elections indicates there is no cost associated with section 5 of the bill; however, some programming changes might be involved.¹⁵

Costs related to implementation of the "single free access system" for persons who vote absentee ballot to be able to access information on the status of their absentee ballots is indeterminate for the state and local levels at this time. The Department of State has been gathering information from vendors and others on various ways to implement the federal requirement. According to department staff, costs would be for programming and implementation changes needed for such a system; however, different implementation methodologies are being considered.¹⁶

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill is exempt from mandate requirements because it is amending the elections laws.

2. Other:

Under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act, new legislation that implements a voting change, including, but not limited to, a change in the manner of voting, change in candidacy requirements and qualifications, change in the composition of the electorate that may vote for a candidate, or change affecting creation or abolition of an elective office, is subject to preclearance by the U.S. Department of Justice. The preclearance review is to determine if the change has a discriminatory purpose or effect that denies or abridges the right to vote on account of race, color or membership in a language minority group in a covered jurisdiction. Florida has five covered jurisdictions subject to preclearance: Collier, Hardee, Hendry, Hillsborough, and Monroe. If the Attorney General objects to the voting change, the legislation is unenforceable.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

The bill conforms current statutory authorization for department rulemaking authority for a ballot to be sent to specified voters if candidate certification for election cannot be accomplished within specified timeframes to changes in voter definitions and federal requirements for transmission of certain information to such voters.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

None.

IV. AMENDMENTS/COUNCIL OR COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill requires the voter information card prescribed in s. 97.071, F.S., to include the address of the polling place. If an elector's address of legal residence or polling place address changes, the supervisor of elections must send the elector a new voter information card. For any elector registered to vote on July 1, 2010, the supervisor of elections has until 30 days before the next supervisor-administered election in which the elector is eligible to vote to include the polling place address on the elector's voter information card.

Currently, every supervisor of elections must furnish a voter information card to every registered voter in the supervisor's county. The card must include date of registration; full name of elector; party affiliation; date of birth; legal residence address; precinct number; supervisor's name and contact information; and other information deemed necessary by the supervisor. Replacement cards are provided free of charge. New cards are issued automatically when a voter's name, address, or party affiliation changes. Sixty-one counties include the polling place address on the voter information card.

The bill takes effect July 1, 2010.

There will be a fiscal impact on counties that do not include the polling place address on the voter information card. See "Fiscal Comments."

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Currently, every supervisor of elections must furnish a voter information card to every registered voter in the supervisor's county. The card must include the following information:

- date of registration;
- full name of elector;
- party affiliation;
- date of birth;
- legal residence address;
- precinct number;
- supervisor's name and contact information; and,
- other information deemed necessary by the supervisor.¹

Replacement cards are provided free of charge upon verification of the voter's registration, if the voter provides a signed written request for a replacement card.² The voter also may use the uniform statewide voter registration application to request a replacement card.³ New cards are issued automatically when a voter's name, address, or party affiliation changes.⁴

According to the Florida State Association of Supervisors of Elections, 61 counties include the polling place address on the voter information card. Counties that do not include the polling place address are Glades, Jefferson, Madison, Orange, Taylor, and Volusia.⁵

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill requires the voter information card prescribed in s. 97.071, F.S., to include the address of the polling place. If an elector's address of legal residence or polling place address changes, the supervisor of elections must send the elector a new voter information card. For any elector registered to vote on July 1, 2010, the supervisor of elections has until 30 days before the next supervisoradministered election in which the elector is eligible to vote to include the polling place address on the elector's voter information card.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends s. 97.01, F.S., to add polling place address to the information required on the voter information card required to be given to all registered voters residing in a Supervisor of Elections county and to issue the voter a new card when the polling place address changes.

Section 2. Provides an effective date of July 1, 2010.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The fiscal impact has not been determined for the six counties that will be required to issue new voter information cards reflecting the polling place address. While it varies from county to county, the average county cost to print and mail one card is approximately 52 cents. For electors who are registered to vote on July 1, 2010, the bill would allow the supervisor until 30 days before the next supervisor-administered election in which an elector is eligible to vote to comply with the polling place address requirement.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

On May 22, 2009, portions of Chapter 106, F.S., regulating "electioneering communications," were held unconstitutional by the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida in Broward Coalition v. Browning.

The bill reenacts and amends provisions related to electioneering communications and electioneering communication organizations (ECOs) to do the following:

- Redefine "electioneering communication" to remove reference to issues, specify the allowable communication formats, regulate advocacy that is the functional equivalent of express advocacy, and provide timeframes for the communications.
- Remove reference to a specific number of persons who must be targeted in a geographic area in the definition of "electioneering communication" to only refer to targeting to "relevant electorate in the geographic area the candidate would represent if elected."
- Redefine "electioneering communications organization" to clarify that it includes only those organizations with "election-related activities" that are limited to electioneering communications and that its activities would not require the group to register as a political party, political committee, or committee of continuous existence.
- Amend the definition of "political committee" to remove the requirement that an ECO conform to specified requirements of a "political committee" when it is specifically exempt from the definition.
- Provide separate registration and reporting requirements for ECOs.
- Require an organization to register as an ECO upon receipt or expenditure of an aggregate amount exceeding $5,000, rather than when it "anticipates receipt or expenditure of money."
- Increase the amount an individual can expend before being subject to regulation from $100 to $5,000.
- Remove provisions identified as an impermissible burden on speech.

The bill also revises provisions relating to use of local government funds for political advertising.

The bill authorizes the leader of each political party conference of the state House of Representatives and Senate to establish a separate, affiliated party committee to support the election of candidates of the leader's political party. Leader is defined as President of the Senate, Speaker of the House of Representatives, or the minority leader of either house of the Legislature, until a person is designated by a political party conference of members of either house to succeed to the position, at which time the designee becomes the leader for purposes of the affiliated party committee. Payment of assessments for candidates for state senator and member of the House of Representatives must be paid to the respective affiliated party committee of the Senate or House of Representatives. The bill provides that specified requirements and exemptions for political parties and state executive committees apply to an affiliated party committee. Finally, the bill removes the 28-day time limitation prior to a general election for contributions from political parties and affiliated party committees to candidates.

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Electioneering Communications and Electioneering Communications Organizations

Summary of Current Law

Federal Law and Regulations

Political speech, political association, and political expression are protected by the First Amendment. Consequently, governments can regulate only those narrow categories of political speech that are "unambiguously related to the campaign of a particular . . . candidate."¹ Two categories fall within that narrow exception: "communications that in express terms advocate the election or defeat of a clearly identifiable candidate for federal office, also referred to as express advocacy"²; and communications that constitute "the functional equivalent of express advocacy."^{3,4}

The Bipartisan Campaign Reform Act of 2002 ("BCRA") amended the Federal Election Campaign Act by adding a new category of political communications, "electioneering communications," to those communications already governed by the Act. BCRA defines electioneering communications as broadcast, cable, or satellite communications that refer to a clearly identified candidate for Federal office, are publicly distributed within 60 days before a general election or 30 days before a primary election, and are targeted to the relevant electorate. Individuals and entities that make electioneering communications are subject to certain reporting requirements.

In 2007, the Supreme Court reviewed an as-applied challenge to the electioneering communications regulations of BCRA.⁵ In WRTLII, Wisconsin Right to Life, a non-profit corporation, sought to use its own general treasury funds to pay for broadcast advertisements that qualified as electioneering communications prohibited by BCRA. The Federal Election Commission contended that the 2003 U.S. Supreme Court decision in McConnell v. Federal Election Commission established the "constitutional ²Id. at 44.

³McConnell v. Fed. Election Comm'n, 540 U.S. 93, 206 (2003).

⁴Citizens United v. Fed. Election Comm'n, 530 F.Supp.2d 274 (D.C.C. 2008)(A film producer challenged provisions of BCRA as unconstitutional. The district court held that a movie about a presidential candidate was the functional equivalent of express advocacy. On September 9, 2009, the Supreme Court heard re-argument on the issue of contribution and expenditure limitations on corporations.)

test for determining if an ad is the functional equivalent of express advocacy: whether the ad is intended to influence elections and has that effect."⁶ The Court held that McConnell did not adopt any test as the standard for future as-applied challenges. The Court went on to reject the adoption of any test for as-applied challenges that depended on the speaker's intent to affect an election. Instead, the Court required that "a court should find that an ad is the functional equivalent of express advocacy only if the ad is susceptible of no reasonable interpretation other than as an appeal to vote for or against a specific candidate."⁷

Florida Law

"Legislatures have the power to regulate elections;"⁸ however, there are certain constraints established in federal law and in case law.

On May 22, 2009, portions of Chapter 106, F.S., regulating "electioneering communications," were held unconstitutional by the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida.⁹ The electioneering communications laws attempted to regulate communication that "refers to or depicts a clearly identified candidate for office or contains a clear reference indicating that an issue is to be voted on at an election, without expressly advocating the election or defeat of a candidate or the passage or defeat of an issue."¹⁰ Any group that makes an electioneering communication must register as an electioneering communications organization. These organizations were required to register and report expenditures and contributions in the same manner as political committees supporting or opposing an issue or a candidate.

In the Broward Coalition decision, the court explained that there are two factors that must be met before a communication is deemed to be the functional equivalent of express advocacy. First, the speech must be "susceptible of no reasonable interpretation other than as an appeal to vote for or against a specific candidate."¹¹ Second, the communication must be a "broadcast, cable, or satellite communication that refers to a clearly identified candidate within sixty days of a general election or thirty days of a primary election."¹² Under this criteria, the court found that: 1) none of the plaintiffs issued communication via broadcast, cable, or satellite; 2) all of the speech at issue is susceptible of a reasonable interpretation other than an appeal to vote for or against a candidate; and 3) "plaintiff's speech relating to ballot issues cannot, by definition, be express advocacy for a particular candidate."¹³

The bill reenacts and revises the following provisions of law related to electioneering communications and electioneering communication organizations (ECOs) to address the concerns raised in the Broward Coalition decision:

- Redefines "electioneering communication" to conform with federal law and case law by removing reference to issues; only regulating advocacy that is the functional equivalent of express advocacy and providing guidelines for such advocacy; and providing the timeframes for such communications.
- Removes the reference to electioneering communication in the provision of law relating to telephone solicitations which are express advocacy since such solicitations cannot, by definition, be electioneering communications.

⁶ WRTL II, at 465.

⁷ In response to WRTL II, the FEC amended its regulations to allow electioneering communications if certain criteria were met.

¹¹ WRTL II, at 470.

¹² Id. at 476.

¹³ Broward Coalition, 2009 WL 1457972, at *6.

- Removes reference to a specific number of persons who must be targeted¹⁴ in a geographic area (1,000 in current state law, 50,000 in federal law) in the definition of "electioneering communication" to only refer to targeting to "relevant electorate in the geographic area the candidate would represent if elected."
- Redefines "electioneering communications organization" to clarify that it includes only those organizations with "election-related activities" that are limited to electioneering communications and that its activities would not require the group to register as a political party, political committee, or committee of continuous existence.
- Amends the definition of "political committee" to remove caveat on an ECO not being a political committee but having to conform to specified requirements of a "political committee." This was addressed in the Broward Coalition decision as being "confusing" and also that such requirements were too onerous on ECOs.
- Amends political committee registration provisions to specifically and separately address registration of ECOs.¹⁵
- Narrows the requirement for an organization to register as an ECO to once an organization receives or expends an aggregate amount exceeding $5,000,¹⁶ rather than "anticipates receipt or expenditure of money."¹⁷
- Increases the amount an individual can expend before being subject to regulation from $100 to $5,000.¹⁸
- Places in one section of law all provisions relating to reporting requirements for ECOs and tailors certain provisions to ECOs. This, in part, addresses concerns of the court that ECOs are treated like political committees when they are not political committees and that such treatment is onerous for such organizations.
- Removes provisions stricken by the Broward Coalition decision (ss. 106.08(4)(b) and (5)(d), F.S.) because of probable challenge as a regulation on contributions that is too far removed from the candidate to prevent corruption and, therefore, is an impermissible burden on speech.¹⁹
- Reenacts other provisions because of changes made in the definitions and other changes in the proposal that seem to negate concerns raised by the court.

The bill differs from the Broward Coalition decision and from current law in the following ways:

- In redefining the term "electioneering communication", the bill retains certain print media (newspaper, magazine, or direct mail) and adds telephone.
- A statement to be read by someone who places an electioneering communication telephone call is provided in a separate section of law from that for express advocacy telephone solicitations.

¹⁴ In the Order Granting Motion for Preliminary Injunction issued in Broward Coalition, 2008 WL 4791004, 21 Fla. L. Weekly Fed. D 420 (N.D.Fla., 2008), the court noted it would be impossible for plaintiffs to determine whether certain communications, issued through the internet or print, would be received by 1,000 or more persons. See also Alaska Right to Life Committee v. Miles, 441 F.3d 773, 783 (discussing Alaska electioneering law that required the communication to "address an issue of national, state, or local political importance" instead "targeted to the relevant electorate").

¹⁸ 2 U.S.C. s. 434(f) places the threshold for an individual at an amount of greater than $10,000.

¹⁹ See e.g. Emily's List v. Federal Election Com'n, --- F.3d ---, 2009 WL 2972412 (D.C.Cir., 2009)(discussing the First Amendment right of individuals to spend funds to express their views about policy issues and the corresponding right of those individuals to band together and pool their resources as a non-profit organization to express their views).

- Addresses the types of communications by local governments subject to regulation that was not addressed by the Broward Coalition decision.

Affiliated Party Committees

Present Situation

Chapter 103, F.S., requires each political party of the state to be represented by a state executive committee. County executive committees and other committees may be established in accordance with the rules of the state executive committee. The selection of membership to executive committees is provided as well as the responsibilities. Certain information relating to officers, membership, bylaws, and rules and regulations must be filed by the state executive committees with the Department of State. County executive committees file officer and membership information with the state executive committee and with the respective supervisor of elections.²⁰ Responsibility for maintaining records on receipt and disbursement of all party funds is delineated as well as penalties for misappropriation of funds, unlawful expenditure of funds, or false or improper accounting for committee funds.²¹

Unless excluded in law, the state executive committee receives payment of assessments for candidates for office, including state senators and members of the House of Representatives.²²

No person or group of persons can use the name, abbreviation, or symbol of any political party or name of groups or committees associated with the political party that is filed by the political party with the Department of State.²³

The bill establishes the mechanism for the leader of each political party conference of the Florida House of Representatives and Senate to establish a separate, affiliated party committee to support the election of candidates of the leader's political party.²⁴ An affiliated party committee shall adopt bylaws to include, at a minimum, the designation of a treasurer; conduct campaigns for candidates who are members of the leader's political party; and establish an account to raise and expend funds. Such funds may not be expended or committed for expenditure unless authorized by the leader.

Payment of assessments for candidates for state senator and member of the House of Representatives must be paid to the respective affiliated party committee of the Florida Senate or Florida House of Representatives, if such a committee has been established.

An affiliated party committee is entitled to use the name, abbreviation, or symbol of the political party of its leader.

Chapter 106, F.S., is amended to provide that an affiliated party committee is required to file specified reports like an executive committee of a political party or a political party. Additionally, provisions relating to contributions and expenditures; use of closed captioning and descriptive narrative in all television broadcasts, telephone solicitation, polls and surveys relating to candidacies; and penalties that relate to state executive committees and political parties are amended to include an affiliated party committee. Funds contributed to an affiliated party committee cannot be deemed as designated for the partial or exclusive use of a leader of an affiliated party committee.

²⁰ Section 103.091, F.S.

²¹ Section 103.121, F.S.

²² Section 103.121(1)(b), F.S., provides that all party assessments are 2 percent of the annual salary of the office sought by the respective candidate.

²³ Section 103.081, F.S.

Section 11.045, F.S., is amended to exclude contributions or expenditures made by or to an affiliated party committee, just as is done for a political party, from the definition of "expenditure" under this provision.

Sections 112.312 and 112.3215, F.S., are amended to exclude from the definition of "gift" contributions or expenditures by an affiliated party committee and to exclude from the definition of "expenditure," in the latter section, contributions or expenditures made by or to an affiliated party committee, just as is done for a political party in both of those sections.

Contributions by Political Parties to Candidates / Non-allocables

Present Situation

A candidate is limited to accepting an aggregate of $50,000 ($250,000 for a statewide candidate) from a political party, no more than half of which can be accepted before the 28-day period immediately preceding the general election.²⁵ The following items, known as "non-allocables," are excluded from the aggregate $50,000 contribution limit ($250,000 limit for statewide candidates): polling services, research services, costs for campaign staff, professional consulting services, and telephone calls.

Effect of Proposed Change

The bill includes affiliated party committee along with political party in the list from which the aggregate funds can be accepted by a candidate. It removes the 28-day time limitation prior to a general election for candidates to accept contributions from political parties and affiliated party committees.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

See "Fiscal Comments."

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

None.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

Assessments for candidates for the state Senate and state House of Representatives that currently go to the respective political parties instead would go to an affiliated party committee if one has been created pursuant to the bill.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

Any state government costs associated with requirements for affiliated party committees are estimated by the Department of State to be minimal. The provisions would entail only coding an entry for receiving such electronic reports and receiving and processing the reports as is currently done for other committees, candidates, and parties. The payment of the assessment to the applicable leader likewise would be minimal as the Department of State currently pays the political parties their assessment.

According to the Department of State, any litigation relating to the provisions in HB 1207 relating to electioneering communications and electioneering communications organizations largely depends upon the issue litigated and whether appeals would be taken. The department stated estimates would range from about $50,000 at trial court level to upwards of $300,000 for defense; plus, if the department loses and has to pay attorney fees, it could easily go upwards of over $2 million. The department also noted that the plaintiff's attorney fees in Broward Coalition were slightly over $140,000.²⁶

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

The bill is exempt from the mandate requirements because it is amending the elections laws.

²⁶ Information on estimated fiscal impact of HB 1207 was provided by the Department of State, February 25, 2010.

2. Other:

On May 22, 2009, portions of Chapter 106, F.S., regulating "electioneering communications" were held to be unconstitutional by the United States District Court for the Northern District of Florida in Broward Coalition v. Browning. The court stated "because the Court has never held that the regulation of 'electioneering communications' beyond how that term is defined in [BCRA] is permissible, the outer limit of regulation tracks BCRA's definition: a broadcast, cable, or satellite communication that refers to a clearly identified candidate within sixty days of a general election or thirty days of a primary election."²⁷

The definition of "electioneering communication" contained in section 4 of HB 1207 includes types of communication beyond that in the definition in BCRA.

Under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act, new legislation that implements a voting change including but not limited to a change in the manner of voting, change in candidacy requirements and qualifications, change in the composition of the electorate that may vote for a candidate, or change affecting the creation or abolition of an elective office, is subject to preclearance by the U.S. Department of Justice. The preclearance review is to determine if the change has a discriminatory purpose or effect that denies or abridges the right to vote on account of race, color or membership in a language minority group in a covered jurisdiction. Florida has five covered jurisdictions subject to preclearance: Collier, Hardee, Hendry, Hillsborough, and Monroe. The legislation is unenforceable if the Attorney General objects to the voting change.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

None.

802 6. The full name and address of each person to whom

 804 electioneering communications organization within the reporting

854 | (6) Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter,
 855 | in any reporting period during which an electioneering
 856 | communications organization has not received funds, made any
 857 | contributions, or expended any reportable funds, the filing of
 858 | the required report for that period is waived. However, the next
 859 | report filed must specify that the report covers the entire
 860 | period between the last submitted report and the report being
 861 | filed, and any electioneering communications organization not

862 reporting by virtue of this subsection on dates prescribed
 863 elsewhere in this chapter shall notify the filing officer in

915 (c) The treasurer of an electioneering communications
 916 organization may appeal or dispute the fine, based upon, but not

 1455 information as do reports required of candidates by s. 106.07
 1456 and shall be filed on the 10th day following the end of each
 1457 calendar quarter, except that, during the period from the last 1458 day for candidate qualifying until the general election, such 1459 reports shall be filed on the Friday immediately preceding both 1460 the primary election and the general election. In addition to 1461 the reports filed under this section, the state executive
 1462 committee, ~~and~~ each county executive committee, and each
 1463 affiliated party committee shall file a copy of each prior 1464 written acceptance of an in-kind contribution given by the

 1466 under s. 106.08(6). Each state executive committee and 1467 affiliated party committee shall file the original and one copy
 1468 of its reports with the Division of Elections. Each county
 1469 executive committee shall file its reports with the supervisor

 1472 committee failing to file a report on the designated due date
 1473 shall be subject to a fine as provided in subsection (3). No
 1474 separate fine shall be assessed for failure to file a copy of 1475 any report required by this section.

1476 (2) The chair and treasurer of each state or county
 1477 executive committee shall certify as to the correctness of each 1478 report filed by them on behalf of such committee. The leader and 1479 treasurer of each affiliated party committee under s. 103.092
 1480 shall certify as to the correctness of each report filed by them
 1481 on behalf of such committee. Any committee chair, leader, or 1482 treasurer who certifies the correctness of any report while
 1483 knowing that such report is incorrect, false, or incomplete
 1484 commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in 1485 s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

1486 (3) (a) Any state or county executive committee or 1487 affiliated party committee failing to file a report on the 1488 designated due date shall be subject to a fine as provided in 1489 paragraph (b) for each late day. The fine shall be assessed by 1490 the filing officer, and the moneys collected shall be deposited
 1491 in the General Revenue Fund.

1492 (b) Upon determining that a report is late, the filing
 1493 officer shall immediately notify the chair of the executive
 1494 committee or the leader of the affiliated party committee as 1495 defined in s. 103.092 as to the failure to file a report by the 1496 designated due date and that a fine is being assessed for each
 1497 late day. The fine shall be $1,000 for a state executive 1498 committee, $1,000 for an affiliated party committee, and $50 for 1499 a county executive committee, per day for each late day, not to 1500 exceed 25 percent of the total receipts or expenditures,
 1501 whichever is greater, for the period covered by the late report.
 1502 However, if an executive committee or an affiliated party
 1503 committee fails to file a report on the Friday immediately

HB 1207

1504 preceding the general election, the fine shall be $10,000 per 1505 day for each day a state executive committee is late, $10,000
 1506 per day for each day an affiliated party committee is late, and 1507 $500 per day for each day a county executive committee is late.
 1508 Upon receipt of the report, the filing officer shall determine
 1509 the amount of the fine which is due and shall notify the chair
 1510 or leader as defined in s. 103.092. The filing officer shall 1511 determine the amount of the fine due based upon the earliest of 1512 the following:

- 1513 1. When the report is actually received by such officer.
- 1514 2. When the report is postmarked.
- 1515 3. When the certificate of mailing is dated.
- 1516 4. When the receipt from an established courier company is 1517 dated.
- 1518 5. When the electronic receipt issued pursuant to s.
 1519 106.0705 is dated.

 1521 Such fine shall be paid to the filing officer within 20 days
 1522 after receipt of the notice of payment due, unless appeal is 1523 made to the Florida Elections Commission pursuant to paragraph 1524 (c). An officer or member of an executive committee shall not be 1525 personally liable for such fine.

1526 (c) The chair of an executive committee or the leader of 1527 an affiliated party committee as defined in s. 103.092 may
 1528 appeal or dispute the fine, based upon unusual circumstances
 1529 surrounding the failure to file on the designated due date, and 1530 may request and shall be entitled to a hearing before the 1531 Florida Elections Commission, which shall have the authority to

1532 waive the fine in whole or in part. Any such request shall be 1533 made within 20 days after receipt of the notice of payment due.
 1534 In such case, the chair of the executive committee or the leader
 1535 of the affiliated party committee as defined in s. 103.092
 1536 shall, within the 20-day period, notify the filing officer in 1537 writing of his or her intention to bring the matter before the 1538 commission.

 1541 executive committee or affiliated party committee, the failure
 1542 of an executive committee or affiliated party committee to file
 1543 a report after notice, or the failure to pay the fine imposed.

1544 (4) Any contribution received by a state or county
 1545 executive committee or affiliated party committee less than 5
 1546 days before an election shall not be used or expended in behalf
 1547 of any candidate, issue, affiliated party committee, or 1548 political party participating in such election.

1549 (5) No state or county executive committee or affiliated 1550 party committee, in the furtherance of any candidate or 1551 political party, directly or indirectly, shall give, pay, or 1552 expend any money, give or pay anything of value, authorize any 1553 expenditure, or become pecuniarily liable for any expenditure
 1554 prohibited by this chapter. However, the contribution of funds
 1555 by one executive committee to another or to established party
 1556 organizations for legitimate party or campaign purposes is not 1557 prohibited, but all such contributions shall be recorded and 1558 accounted for in the reports of the contributor and recipient.

1559 (6) (a) The national, state, and county executive

1560 | committees of a political party and affiliated party committees
 1561 | may not contribute to any candidate any amount in excess of the

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

Public Records Law

Article I, s. 24(a) of the State Constitution, sets forth the state's public policy regarding access to government records. The section guarantees every person a right to inspect or copy any public record of the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of government. The Legislature, however, may provide by general law for the exemption of records from the requirements of Article I, s. 24(a) of the Florida Constitution. The general law must state with specificity the public necessity justifying the exemption (public necessity statement) and must be no broader than necessary to accomplish its purpose.¹

Public policy regarding access to government records is addressed further in the Florida Statutes. Section 119.07(1), F.S., guarantees every person a right to inspect and copy any state, county, or municipal record. Furthermore, the Open Government Sunset Review Act² provides that a public record or public meeting exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose. In addition, it may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption.
- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

E911 System

Since 1973, Florida's state and local governments have been building and updating technology to support a 911 system that serves its citizens and visitors in emergency situations.³ In May 1997, the system achieved statewide implementation. The system was upgraded to Enhanced 911 (E911)

¹ Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution.

² Section 119.15, F.S.

³ Section 365.171, F.S., also known as the Florida Emergency Communications Number E911 State Plan Act, required the Technology program within the Department of Management Services to develop, maintain, and implement appropriate modifications for a statewide emergency communications E911 system plan.

services, which identifies callers' telephone numbers and addresses to local dispatchers, for wireline and landline calls in September 2005. In March 2008, the system was upgraded to E911 services for wireless calls. E911 service is available currently in all 67 counties.⁴

Florida currently has 235 public safety answering points, also known as call centers, which receive emergency 911 calls. Staff in these call centers include call-takers, dispatchers, and dual call-taker/dispatchers. Call-takers answer calls and record necessary information such as the caller's name and the nature of the emergency, and relay this information to dispatchers who assess the information, determine the type of emergency response needed, and direct appropriate emergency services to respond to the call. In some call centers, call-taking and dispatch functions are performed by the same individual (dual call-taker/dispatcher).⁵

State, county, and local government entities administer Florida's E911 system.

The Department of Management Services coordinates the statewide system but has no authority to monitor emergency services. The department provides technical assistance to counties on technology standards and operational capabilities, helps design and implement new communications and data systems, and assists with staff training. The department also develops and updates a statewide emergency communications E911 system plan, which provides guidance to counties but permits them to design and maintain their own 911 systems and plans.⁶ The department's statewide 911 coordinator reviews county plans and inspects call centers for compliance with the state plan.

E911 Board

The E911 Board was established by the Legislature in 2007 to administer the Emergency Communications Number E911 System Fund (E911 Trust Fund),⁷ which is the main funding source for 911 communications in the state.⁸ The board consists of nine members, including the Department of Management Services' E911 system director, who is designated by the Secretary of the Department of Management Services and serves as chair.⁹ With oversight by the department, the board administers the fund and disburses revenues to the department, wireless providers, and counties for specific authorized expenses.

Boards of County Commissioners

Boards of County Commissioners are the responsible fiscal agent and ultimate authority for 911 services in each county. Each board designates a county 911 coordinator who serves as a point of contact for local call centers, reports on system status, and submits the county 911 plan to the department. These plans describe county 911 system infrastructure and staffing for each call center. Call centers are operated typically by city police departments and county sheriffs' offices. Call centers may establish their own training protocols and quality assurance measures.¹⁰

Public Record Exemption for the E911 System

Current law provides that

⁶ Section 365.171(4), F.S.

⁷ Section 365.172(5)(a), F.S.

⁸ The E911 Trust Fund is derived from a monthly fee (not to exceed 50 cents) on each wireless and non-wireless voice communication subscriber with a Florida billing address. The E911 Board makes disbursements from the E911 Trust Fund for wireless service provider E911 deployment and services, county E911 funding for equipment and services, rural county grants, E911 state grants, and E911 Board administration and operations.

⁹ Pursuant to s. 365.172(5)(b), F.S., the Governor appoints the remaining eight members: four county coordinators from a large, medium, and rural county and an at-large representative recommended by the Florida Association of Counties, two local exchange carrier members, and two members from the wireless telecommunications industry.

[a]ny record, recording, or information, or portions thereof, obtained by a public agency¹¹ or a public safety agency¹² for the purpose of providing services in an emergency and which reveals the name, address, telephone number, or personal information about, or information which may identify any person requesting emergency service or reporting an emergency by accessing an emergency communications E911 system is confidential and exempt¹³ from the provisions of s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution. . .¹⁴

In short, the name, address, telephone number or personal information about, or information that may identify any person requesting emergency services or reporting an emergency is confidential and exempt from public records requirements. Such information may be released only to a public safety agency.¹⁵

Due to technological advances, more and more E911 recordings are accessible to the public via the Internet, radio, and television. E911 recordings provide the listener with an eyewitness account of the emergency at hand. The emergency often times is a very personal and traumatizing event. As such, states have begun prohibiting the release of E911 recordings.

Protections in Other States

In Maine, the audio recording of a call placed to a 911 system for the purpose of requesting service from a law enforcement, fire, or medical agency is deemed private data on individuals with respect to the individual making the call. However, a written transcript of the audio recording is considered public except for certain circumstances. A transcript is prepared upon request and the person requesting the transcript is required to pay the actual cost of transcribing the call, in addition to any other applicable costs.¹⁶

Mississippi provides that all emergency telephone calls and telephone call transmissions and all recordings of such calls are confidential. The recordings may be used only for the purposes as may be needed for law enforcement, fire, medical rescue, or other emergency services.¹⁷

In Pennsylvania, “[r]ecords or parts of records . . . pertaining to audio recordings, telephone or radio transmissions received by emergency dispatch personnel, including 911 recordings” are not a public record. However, an agency or a court may release 911 recordings if it determines the public interest in disclosure outweighs the interest in nondisclosure.¹⁸ South Dakota has similar protections and release standards as those in Pennsylvania.¹⁹

Rhode Island provides that all 911 telephone calls and telephone call transmissions and all tapes containing records of 911 telephone calls are confidential.²⁰

¹¹ Section 365.171(3)(c), F.S., defines “public agency” to mean the state and any city, county, city and county, municipal corporation, chartered organization, public district, or public authority located in whole or in part within this state which provides, or has authority to provide, firefighting, law enforcement, ambulance, medical, or other emergency services.

¹³ There is a difference between records the Legislature designates as exempt from public record requirements and those the Legislature deems confidential and exempt. A record classified as exempt from public disclosure may be disclosed under certain circumstances. (See WFTV, Inc. v. The School Board of Seminole, 874 So.2d 48, 53 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004), review denied 892 So.2d 1015 (Fla. 2004); City of Riviera Beach v. Barfield, 642 So.2d 1135 (Fla. 4th DCA 1994); *Williams v. Effect of Bill

The bill expands the current public record exemption to include any recording of a request for emergency services or report of an emergency using an emergency communications E911 system. Sixty days after the date of a request for emergency services or a report of an emergency, a transcript of the recording may be made available pursuant to a public records request; however, the name, address, telephone number, or other personal information remains confidential and exempt and must be redacted from the transcript. The person requesting the transcript is responsible for paying the actual cost of transcribing the recording.

The confidential and exempt E911 recording may be disclosed to a public safety agency.

The bill provides for retroactive application of the public record exemption.²¹ It also provides a public necessity statement as required by the State Constitution.²²

In accordance with the Open Government Sunset Review Act,²³ the exemption will sunset on October 2, 2015, unless reviewed and saved from repeal through reenactment by the Legislature.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 365.171, F.S., to expand the current public record exemption to include the recording of an E911 call.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

The bill likely could create a minimal fiscal impact on public agencies and public safety agencies, because staff responsible for complying with public records requests could require training related to the changes made to the current public record exemption. In addition, such agencies could incur costs associated with redacting the confidential and exempt information prior to releasing a record. The costs, however, would be absorbed, as they are part of the day-to-day responsibilities of public agencies and public safety agencies.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

This bill does not require counties or municipalities to spend funds or to take an action requiring the expenditure of funds. This bill does not reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities. This bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities have to raise revenue.

2. Other:

Vote Requirement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution, requires a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting for passage of a newly created public record or public meeting exemption. The bill expands the current exemption under review; thus, it requires a two-thirds vote for passage.

Public Necessity Statement

Article I, s. 24(c) of the State Constitution, requires a public necessity statement for a newly created or expanded public record or public meeting exemption. The bill expands the current exemption under review; thus, it includes a public necessity statement.

 84 immediate family of those persons. Additionally, to have such

 87 than emergency service providers, could actually gain access to

 89 efficient provision of emergency services. Furthermore, there
 90 are those persons, who, for personal, private gain or for 91 business purposes, would seek to capitalize on individuals in 92 their time of need. Those reporting or needing emergency
 93 services should not be subjected to this type of possible
 94 harassment. Furthermore, to allow such recording to become

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public record and each public meeting exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

Florida residents can register to vote by mailing or hand delivering a voter registration application to various locations. In addition to the applicant's name, the voter application requests, in part, the following: date of birth, name and address where last registered to vote, last four digits of the social security number, Florida driver's license number or identification number from a Florida issued ID card, and signature of the applicant.

Current law provides a public record exemption for the following information held by an agency:

- All declinations to register to vote at a voter registration agency or driver license office.
- Information relating to the place where a person registered to vote or updated a voter registration.
- The social security number, driver's license number, and Florida ID number of a voter registration applicant or voter.

Further, the law provides that the signature of a voter or voter registration applicant is exempt from the copying requirements found in the public records laws.

The bill reenacts the public record exemptions, which will repeal on October 2, 2010, if this bill does not become law. It also makes clarifying changes.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

HOUSE PRINCIPLES

- Protect Florida's natural beauty.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act¹ sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public record or public meeting exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public record or public meeting exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose. In addition, it may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption.
- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.² If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created³ then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

Voter Registration in Florida

Florida residents can register to vote by mailing or hand delivering a voter registration application to various locations, including the office of the voter's supervisor of elections, the Division of Elections

within the Department of State, a driver license office, a voter registration agency,⁴ or an armed forces recruitment office.⁵ In addition to the applicant's name, the voter application requests, in part, the following: date of birth, address and county of legal residence, mailing address if different, race or ethnicity, state or country of birth, sex, party affiliation, whether the applicant needs assistance in voting, name and address where last registered, last four digits of the social security number, Florida driver's license number or identification number from a Florida issued ID card, and signature of the applicant.⁶

Florida Voter Registration System

The Florida Voter Registration System (FVRS) contains the official registration information of every legally registered voter in the State. There are at least 11.2 million active registered voters. Since its implementation in January 2006, the FVRS is considered one of the most comprehensive statewide databases. It includes, but is not limited to, the voter's name, date of birth, former and maiden names, addresses, social security number, driver's license number or state identification number, signature, and information as to where a person registered to vote or updated his or her registration record. Under Florida's public records laws, all of this electronic information is a public record with the exception of that information made confidential and exempt.⁷

Public Record Exemptions under Review

Prior to 2005, current law provided a public record exemption for declinations to register to vote at a voter registration agency and the location where a person registered or updated a voter registration.⁸ Use of the declination was limited to voter registration purposes, as required by federal law.

The exemption also provided that a voter's signature, social security number, and telephone number were exempt from the copying requirements of the Public Records Act⁹ and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution; however, such information was subject to public inspection.¹⁰

In 2005, the public record exemption was amended and, as such, currently provides that the following information held by an agency¹¹ is confidential and exempt¹² from public records requirements and may be used only for voter registration purposes:

- All declinations to register to vote at a voter registration agency or driver license office.
- Information relating to the place where a person registered to vote or updated a voter registration.
- The social security number, driver's license number, and Florida ID number of a voter registration applicant or voter.¹³

⁴ Section 97.021(40), F.S., defines "voter registration agency" to mean "any office that provides public assistance, any office that serves persons with disabilities, any center for independent living, or any public library."

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2010, unless reenacted by the Legislature.¹⁵

EFFECT OF BILL

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public record exemptions. It also makes clarifying changes.

Section 1 amends s. 97.0585, F.S., to reenact the public record exemptions for information regarding voters and voter applicants.

Section 2 repeals s. 3 of chapter 2005-279, L.O.F., which provides for repeal of the exemptions.

Comments by the Department of State¹⁶

Declinations to Register to Vote and Information Relating to the Place of Registration

The public record exemption for declinations to register to vote flows from the National Voter Registration Act of 1993 (NVRA). One of the primary goals of the NVRA was to make it easier to register and to maintain one's registration record. This was accomplished in part by designating the driver license examiner offices and other governmental agencies or offices as voter registration agencies. That means those agencies have to provide simultaneous voter registration services in conjunction with their own agency services. Consequently, a person was no longer limited to submitting his or her registration application to a supervisor of elections office.

Some of the offices designated included offices that served persons with disabilities or offices that provided public assistance. In order to encourage registration and minimize any disincentive to registering at these sites, the federal law prohibited the disclosure of the location where someone registered or updated his or her registration information so as not to reveal whether someone was applying for or receiving public assistance.

Congress also wanted to monitor the effectiveness of the NVRA without revealing whether or not someone decided to register or update his or her voter record. Once again, the objective was to remove any disincentives from registering.

The reasons for the public record exemption for declinations to register to vote and location of registration, under federal law, still apply and, as such, protection should be continued at the state level.

Social Security Number, Driver's License Number, and Florida ID number

The public record exemption for the social security, driver's license, or Florida identification number of a voter registration applicant or voter flows from a requirement in the Help America Vote Act and under section 97.053(5), F.S., in which a person must provide a personal identifying number in order to register to vote. The personal identifying number is then confirmed or verified against databases at the Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (DHSMV) or the Social Security Administration for identification purposes.¹⁷

The Department of State believes disclosure of such numbers in conjunction with other readily available and easily accessible public information, including information contained in the FVRS, could be used to facilitate identity theft, serve illegitimate uses, and pose economic and personal harm.

The Department believes the exemption under review affords greater protection of an applicant's or voter's social security number than is afforded under the Federal Privacy Act and the general exemption for social security numbers¹⁸ found in the Public Records Act. Unlike the general public record exemption found in the Public Records Act, the public record exemption specific to the social security number of an applicant or voter denies access to any requestor. No exceptions apply. The information may only be used for voter registration purposes.

In addition, both federal and state laws limit the disclosure of driver's license numbers in a "motor vehicle record."¹⁹ However, the voter registration application is not a part of the motor vehicle record even though the DHSMV transfers information regarding the driver's license or state identification card number and other data from the license application to the voter registration application as part of its simultaneous electronic intake for voter registration. Therefore, the protections in federal law and the Public Records Act would not protect those numbers from disclosure.

As such, the Department of State would like to maintain those protections provided in s. 97.0585, F.S.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public record and each public meeting exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

Current law provides a public record exemption for a complaint or any records relating to the complaint or to any preliminary investigation by the Commission on Ethics or a Commission on Ethics and Public Trust established by a county or a municipality. In addition, any proceedings regarding a complaint or preliminary investigation are exempt from public meetings requirements.

The bill reenacts the public record and public meeting exemptions, which will repeal on October 2, 2010, if this bill does not become law. It also reorganizes the exemption for clarity.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act¹ sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public record or public meeting exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public record or public meeting exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose. In addition, it may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption.
- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.² If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created³ then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

² Section 24(c), Art. I of the State Constitution.

³ An example of an exception to a public record exemption would be allowing another agency access to confidential or exempt records.

Commission on Ethics

The Commission on Ethics (Commission) is a non-paid, appointed body consisting of nine members.⁴ The Commission serves as guardian of the standards of conduct for officers and employees of the state and of a county, city, or other political subdivision of the state.⁵

Current law establishes the duties and powers of the Commission.⁶ Chief among these responsibilities is the duty to receive and investigate sworn complaints of violation of the code of ethics and of any other breach of the public trust,⁷ including investigation of all facts and parties materially related to the complaint.

A county or municipality also has the authority to create a Commission on Ethics and Public Trust.

Exemptions under Review

Current law provides a public record exemption for a complaint or any records relating to the complaint or to any preliminary investigation by the Commission or a Commission on Ethics and Public Trust established by a county or a municipality. The complaint and associated records are confidential and exempt from public records requirements.⁸ In addition, any proceedings regarding a complaint or preliminary investigation are exempt from public meetings requirements. Such exemptions no longer apply when the:

- Complaint is dismissed as legally insufficient;
- Alleged violator requests in writing that the records and proceedings be made public; or
- Commission or Commission on Ethics and Public Trust determines whether probable cause exists to believe that a violation has occurred.⁹

In 2005, the Legislature applied the public record and public meeting exemptions to a Commission on Ethics and Public Trust established by a municipality.¹⁰ As such, pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2010, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

EFFECT OF BILL

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public record and public meeting exemptions. It also reorganizes the exemptions for clarity.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 112.324, F.S., to reenact the public record and public meeting exemptions for the Commission or a Commission on Ethics and Public Trust established by a county or a municipality.

Section 2 provides an effective date of October 1, 2010.

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act¹ sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public record or public meeting exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public record or public meeting exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose. In addition, it may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption.
- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.² If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created³ then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

Guardian ad Litem Program

The Florida Guardian ad Litem (GAL) Program is a partnership of community advocates and professional staff acting on behalf of Florida's abused and neglected children. As of December 14,

² Section 24(c), Art. I of the State Constitution.

³ An example of an exception to a public record exemption would be allowing another agency access to confidential or exempt records.

2009, approximately 23,000 children were represented by close to 7,000 volunteers in the GAL program.⁴

Guardians ad Litem⁵ are responsible for making independent recommendations to the court based on the best interests of a child. In order to accomplish this goal, some of the responsibilities of a GAL include:

- Visiting the child and keeping the child informed about the court proceedings;
- Gathering and assessing independent information on a consistent basis about the child in order to recommend a resolution that is in the child's best interest;
- Reviewing records;
- Interviewing appropriate parties involved in the case, including the child;
- Determining whether a permanent plan, which establishes the placement intended to serve as the child's permanent home, has been created for the child in accordance with federal and state laws and whether appropriate services are being provided to the child and family;
- Submitting a signed written report with recommendations to the court on what placement, visitation plan, services, and permanent plan are in the best interest of the child;
- Attending and participating in court hearings and other related meetings to advocate for a permanent plan that serves the child's best interest; and
- Maintaining complete records about the case, including appointments scheduled, interviews held, and information gathered about the child and the child's life circumstances.⁶

Public Record Exemptions for Identification and Location Information

Current law provides several public record exemptions for identification and location information of certain public employees and their spouse and children.⁷ Examples of protected information include home addresses, telephone numbers, and photographs of law enforcement personnel, firefighters, investigators for the Department of Children and Family Services, state attorneys, and code enforcement officers. Similar information concerning the spouse and children of such employees also is protected.

Exemption under Review

In 2005, the Legislature added guardians ad litem to the public record exemption.⁸ The following information was made exempt⁹ from public records requirements:

- Home addresses, telephone numbers, places of employment, and photographs of current or former GALs; and
- Names, home addresses, telephone numbers, and places of employment of the spouses and children of such GALs.

⁴ Bill analysis by the Statewide Guardian ad Litem Office, December 15, 2009, at 1. (on file with the Governmental Affairs Policy Committee).

⁵ Section 39.820(1), F.S., defines "guardian ad litem" to mean: as referred to in any civil or criminal proceeding includes the following: a certified guardian ad litem program, a duly certified volunteer, a staff attorney, contract attorney, or certified pro bono attorney working on behalf of a guardian ad litem or the program; staff members of a program office; a court-appointed attorney; or a responsible adult who is appointed by the court to represent the best interests of a child in a proceeding as provided for by law, including, but not limited to, this chapter, who is a party to any judicial proceeding as a representative of the child, and who serves until discharged by the court.

⁷ See s. 119.071(4)(d), F.S.

⁸ Section 4 of chapter 2005-213, L.O.F., codified at s. 119.071(4)(d)1.h., F.S.

⁹ There is a difference between records the Legislature designates as exempt from public record requirements and those the Legislature deems confidential and exempt. A record classified as exempt from public disclosure may be disclosed under certain circumstances. (See WFTV, Inc. v. The School Board of Seminole, 874 So.2d 48, 53 (Fla. 5th DCA 2004), review denied 892 So.2d 1015 (Fla. 2004); City of Riviera Beach v. Barfield, 642 So.2d 1135 (Fla. 4th DCA 1994); Williams v. City of Minneola, 575 So.2d 687 (Fla. 5th DCA 1991) If the Legislature designates a record as confidential and exempt from public disclosure, such record may not be released, by the custodian of public records, to anyone other than the persons or entities specifically designated in the statutory exemption. (See Attorney General Opinion 85-62, August 1, 1985).

The exemption applies only if the GAL provides to his or her GAL office a written statement that he or she has made reasonable efforts to protect such information from being accessible through other means available to the public.¹⁰ The GAL also may protect such identification and location information held by any other agency¹¹ if he or she provides written notification to that custodial agency that he or she is a GAL who receives protection under s. 119.071(4)(d)h.1., F.S.

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2010, unless reenacted by the Legislature.¹²

EFFECT OF BILL

The bill reenacts the public record exemption for identification and location information of GALs and their spouse and children. It expands the exemption to also protect the names and locations of school and daycare facilities attend by the children of GALs, if the GAL provides a written statement that he or she has made reasonable efforts to protect such information from being accessible through other means available to the public. Other similar exemptions provide protections for school and daycare information. As such, this expansion provides GALs with the same protections afforded other public employees with the same type of public record exemption.

The bill extends the repeal date from October 2, 2010, to October 2, 2015. In addition, it provides a public necessity statement.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1 amends s. 119.071, F.S., to reenact and expand the public record exemption for identification and location information of GALs and their spouse and children.

Section 2 provides a public necessity statement.

Section 3 provides an effective date of upon becoming a law.

 151 necessity that the names and locations of schools and day care
 152 facilities attended by the children of current or former
 153 guardians ad litem be made exempt from public records
 154 requirements. Guardians ad litem provide a valuable service to 155 the community. They interact with victims of child abuse and 156 neglect and, at times, the perpetrators of that abuse or 157 neglect. The capacity in which they work or volunteer their time
 158 does not always create good will. Different persons may be 159 disgruntled with the testimony, report, or recommendation made

- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.² If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created³ then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

Public Access to Court Records

Although Florida courts have consistently held that the judiciary is not considered an "agency" for purposes of the Public Records Act,^{4,5} the Florida Supreme Court has found that "both civil and criminal proceedings in Florida are public events” and that it will “adhere to the well established common law right of access to court proceedings and records.”⁶ Furthermore, there is a constitutional guarantee of access to judicial records.⁷ This constitutional provision provides for public access to judicial records, except for those records expressly exempted by the Florida Constitution, Florida law in effect on July 1, 1993, court rules in effect on November 3, 1992, or by future acts of the Legislature in accordance with the Constitution.⁸

Parental Notice of Abortion Act

In 1999, the Legislature enacted a law requiring parents of minors to be notified prior to the minor’s termination of her pregnancy. This law was constitutionally challenged on grounds that the act violated a person’s right to privacy under the Florida Constitution. The Florida Supreme Court concluded that the act violated Florida’s constitutional right to privacy⁹ because the minor was not afforded a mechanism by which to bypass parental notification if certain exigent circumstances existed.¹⁰ In response to the court’s decision, the Legislature proposed a constitutional amendment authorizing the Florida Legislature, notwithstanding a minor’s right to privacy under the Florida Constitution, to require a physician to notify a minor’s parent or guardian prior to termination of the minor’s pregnancy, which was subsequently ratified by Florida voters. The amendment provides:

The Legislature shall not limit or deny the privacy right guaranteed to a minor under the United States Constitution as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court. Notwithstanding a minor’s right of privacy provided in Section 23 of Article I, the Legislature is authorized to require by general law for notification to a parent or guardian of a minor before the termination of the minor’s pregnancy. The Legislature shall provide exceptions to such requirement for notification and shall create a process for judicial waiver of the notification.¹¹

The Legislature responded to this authorization by enacting the Parental Notice of Abortion Act (Act).¹² The Act requires a treating physician to provide actual notice, in person or by telephone, to a parent or other legal guardian of a minor seeking to have an abortion at least 48 hours before the performance of the abortion on the minor.^{13, 14} Notice under the Act is not required if:

- In the physician’s good faith clinical judgment, a medical emergency exists and there is insufficient time for the attending physician to comply with the notification requirements;
- Notice is waived in writing by the person who is entitled to notice;
- Notice is waived by a minor who is or has been married or has had the disability of nonage removed under statute;
- Notice is waived by the patient because the patient has a minor child dependent on her; or
- A court waives the parental notification process via a bypass proceeding.¹⁵

Parental Notification Judicial-Bypass Proceeding

Under the Act, a minor may petition any circuit court in a judicial circuit within the jurisdiction of the District Court of Appeal, in which she resides, for a waiver of the notice requirements under the Act.¹⁶

¹⁴ Constructive notice may be provided after a physician has made reasonable efforts to contact the parents. To accomplish legally valid constructive notice, the physician must provide written notice, signed by the physician, and mailed at least 72 hours before the inducement or performance of the termination of pregnancy, to the last known address of the parent or legal guardian of the minor, by certified mail, return receipt requested, and delivery restricted to the parent or legal guardian. After 72 hours, delivery is deemed to have occurred. (Section 390.01114(2)(c), F.S.)

¹⁵ Section 390.01114(3)(b), F.S.

To initiate the proceeding, a minor must file a petition with the court under a pseudonym or through the use of initials.^{17,18} The court must advise the minor that she is entitled to court-appointed counsel upon her request at no charge.¹⁹

After a petition is filed, the court must rule and issue written findings of fact and conclusions of law within 48 hours.²⁰ In order to the grant the petition, the court must find:

- By clear and convincing evidence, that the minor is sufficiently mature to decide whether to terminate her pregnancy;
- By a preponderance of the evidence, that there is evidence of child abuse or sexual abuse of the minor by one or both of her parents or her guardian; or
- By a preponderance of the evidence that the notification of a parent or guardian is not in the best interest of the minor.²¹

If the court fails to issue a ruling within the 48-hour period and an extension of time has not been requested by the minor, the petition is granted and the notice requirement is waived.²²

Exemption under Review

In conjunction with the enactment of the Florida Parental Notice of Abortion Act (Act), the Legislature created a public record exemption for judicial records related to parental notification bypass proceedings. Any information in a court record that could be used to identify a minor in a proceeding to bypass parental notification under the Act is confidential and exempt²³ from public records requirements.²⁴

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemption will repeal on October 2, 2010, unless reenacted by the Legislature.²⁵

EFFECT OF BILL

The bill reenacts the public record exemption for information in judicial records that would identify a minor participating in a parental notification bypass proceeding. It expands the exemption to also include such information when held by the Office of Criminal Conflict and Civil Regional Counsel or the Justice Administrative Commission. During representation of minors in judicial-waiver cases under the Act, the Office of Criminal Conflict and Civil Regional Counsel may obtain identifying information from the minors. Similarly, the Justice Administrative Commission may receive identifying information of minors that is related to the processing of attorney billing and payment requests for representation in such cases.

 57 acts of abuse from an abuser who, without the public record
 58 exemption, could learn of the minor's pregnancy, her plans to 59 terminate the pregnancy, and her petition to the court. The 60 Legislature further finds that it is a public necessity to keep 61 this identifying information in records held by the Office of 62 Criminal Conflict and Civil Regional Counsel or the Justice
 63 Administrative Commission confidential and exempt in order to 64 protect the privacy of the minor. The State Constitution
 65 contains an express right of privacy in Section 23 of Article I.
 66 Further, the United States Supreme Court has repeatedly required
 67 parental-notification laws to contain judicial-bypass procedures
 68 and to preserve confidentiality at every level of court
 69 proceedings in order to protect the privacy rights of the minor.
 70 Without the public record exemption provided in this act, the 71 disclosure of personal identifying information would violate the 72 right of privacy of the minor. Further, without the confidential
 73 and exempt status for this information, the constitutionality of 74 the state's program providing for notification of a minor's
 75 termination of pregnancy, and the judicial-bypass procedure in
 76 particular, would be in question. Thus, the public record

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act¹ sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public record or public meeting exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public record or public meeting exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose. In addition, it may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption.
- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.² If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created³ then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

Florida Self-Insurers Guaranty Association

The Florida Legislature created the Florida Self-Insurers Guaranty Association (association) as a nonprofit corporation.⁴ The purpose of the association is to provide a mechanism to fund covered workers' compensation claims of individual insolvent self-insurers other than public utilities or governmental entities. The association is under the general oversight of the Department of Financial Services, which also regulates individual self-insurers for purposes of workers' compensation coverage.⁵

Current law provides a public record exemption for the association. Claims files and medical records and information relating to the medical condition or medical status, of a claimant, are confidential and exempt⁶ from public records requirements.⁷ The public record exemption for claims files expires upon termination of all litigation and settlement of all claims arising out of the accident.⁸

Upon written request, confidential and exempt claims files and medical records and other medical information, of a claimant, may be released to another agency in the performance of that agency's official duties and responsibilities. The receiving agency must maintain the confidential and exempt status of such files, records, and information.⁹

Current law also provides a public meeting exemption for those portions of association meetings wherein confidential and exempt claims files or other medical information about a claimant is discussed. All closed portions of meetings must be recorded and transcribed, including:

- The times of commencement and termination of the meeting;
- All discussion and proceedings;
- The names of all persons present at any time; and
- The names of all persons speaking.¹⁰

Minutes of closed portions of association meetings are confidential and exempt from public records requirements; however, such exemption expires upon termination of all litigation and settlement of all claims.¹¹

The court reporter's notes of any exempt portion of a meeting must be retained by the association for a minimum of five years.¹²

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2010, unless reenacted by the Legislature.¹³

The bill removes the repeal date, thereby reenacting the public record and public meeting exemptions. It also reorganizes the section for clarity.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Open Government Sunset Review Act requires the Legislature to review each public record and each public meeting exemption five years after enactment. If the Legislature does not reenact the exemption, it automatically repeals on October 2nd of the fifth year after enactment.

In 2004, the Legislature directed the Department of Revenue to develop and operate a data match system that would identify noncustodial parents who owe past-due child support and who also have a claim with an insurer. This process allows insurers to voluntarily provide the Department with the name, address, and if known, date of birth and social security number or other taxpayer identification number for each noncustodial parent identified as having a claim. The data provided can be used only for purposes of child support enforcement.

The Department did not immediately begin matching data files with insurance companies using the insurance claim data exchange statute. In February 2006, the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 was enacted by Congress. The Act amended federal law to authorize the Federal Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to compare information concerning individuals owing past-due child support with information maintained by insurers concerning insurance claims, settlements, awards, and payments. The Act further allowed HHS to furnish information resulting from the data matches to state agencies responsible for child support enforcement.

The Department began participating in the federal program in the fall of 2008. The Department reports it needs additional time to determine the success of the federal program.

Current law provides that information obtained by the Department pursuant to the insurance claim data exchange is confidential and exempt from public records requirements until the Department determines if a match exists. If a match does exist, the match data is no longer confidential and exempt and is available for public disclosure. If a match is not made, then the nonmatch information must be destroyed.

At the request of the Department, the bill extends the repeal date from October 2, 2010, to October 2, 2012, thereby reenacting the public record exemption for information obtained by the Department pursuant to the insurance claim data exchange. This extension should provide the Department with ample time to determine the success of the federal program.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

⁴ Senate Bill Analysis and Fiscal Impact Statement for SB 886 by the Committee on Children, Families, and Elder Affairs, February 8, 2010, at 3.

The Department of Revenue is authorized to levy any credit or personal property of an obligor for any past-due child support.⁵ This includes bank accounts, vehicles, and insurance claim payments.

The Legislature directed the Department to develop and operate a data match system that would identify noncustodial parents who owe past-due child support and who also have a claim with an insurer.⁶ This process allows insurers to voluntarily provide the Department with the name, address, and if known, date of birth and social security number or other taxpayer identification number for each noncustodial parent identified as having a claim.⁷ The data provided can be used only for purposes of child support enforcement.⁸

An insurer may provide the Department with the needed information in one of the following ways:

- An insurer may provide the required data for each claim directly to the Department electronically so it can conduct a data match;
- An insurer may receive or access data from the Department and conduct a data match of all noncustodial parents who have a claim with the insurer and who owe past-due child support, and submit the match data regarding each noncustodial parent to the Department; or
- An insurer may authorize an insurance claim data collection organization to complete either of the two options.⁹

Due to the variety of data submission methods provided within the system, it is possible for the Department to receive information on individuals who have a claim with an insurer and who do not owe child support.

Public Record Exemption under Review

Current law provides that information obtained by the Department pursuant to the insurance claim data exchange is confidential and exempt¹⁰ from public records requirements until the Department determines if a match exists.¹¹ If a match does exist, the match data is no longer confidential and exempt and is available for public disclosure. If a match is not made, then the nonmatch information must be destroyed.¹²

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act (OGSR), the exemption was scheduled to repeal on October 2, 2009; however, as a result of the OGSR review during the 2008 interim the repeal date was delayed until October 2, 2010.

Implementation of the Insurance Claim Data Exchange

The Department did not immediately begin matching data files with insurance companies using the insurance claim data exchange statute. According to the Department, it took steps to implement the statute by contacting most of the top 25 insurers in the State. During this time, insurers were responding to claims resulting from damage caused during the 2004 hurricane season. Therefore, the Department decided to postpone working on the insurance claim data exchange initiative at the request of those insurers. The Department did not re-initiate contact with the insurers and attempt to resume implementation activities due to its resources being otherwise dedicated to the statewide

implementation of Phase I of the Child Support Enforcement Automated Management System (CAMS).¹³

In February 2006, the Deficit Reduction Act of 2005 was enacted by Congress. The Act amended federal law to authorize the Federal Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) to compare information concerning individuals owing past-due child support with information maintained by insurers concerning insurance claims, settlements, awards, and payments. The Act further allowed HHS to furnish information resulting from the data matches to state agencies responsible for child support enforcement.¹⁴

Rather than re-engage insurers in the implementation of insurance claim data exchange, the Department chose to monitor the results of a federal workgroup charged with implementing the nationwide insurance data match program in other states before implementing the federal program in Florida.¹⁵ The Department submitted the participation form to the Federal Office of Child Support Enforcement on September 8, 2008 and began receiving matches on October 10, 2008.

Between October 10 and December 4, 2008, the Department had received 530 matches from the new program. Approximately 47 percent of these matches already had been received by the Department through other means.¹⁶ For the period of November 2008 through October 2009, the Department had received 2,996 data matches from the federal program. Of those matches, the Department reports 422 already had been made by the Department through other means.¹⁷

The Department has requested additional time in order to determine the success of the federal program. As such, it has requested delay of repeal of the exemption until October 2, 2012.¹⁸

EFFECT OF BILL

The bill extends the repeal date from October 2, 2010, to October 2, 2012, thereby reenacting the public record exemption for information obtained by the Department pursuant to the insurance claim data exchange. This extension provides the Department with additional time to determine the success of the federal program.

Section 1 amends s. 409.25661, F.S., to extend the repeal date from October 2, 2010, to October 2, 2012.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

BACKGROUND

Open Government Sunset Review Act

The Open Government Sunset Review Act¹ sets forth a legislative review process for newly created or substantially amended public record or public meeting exemptions. It requires an automatic repeal of the exemption on October 2nd of the fifth year after creation or substantial amendment, unless the Legislature reenacts the exemption.

The Act provides that a public record or public meeting exemption may be created or maintained only if it serves an identifiable public purpose. In addition, it may be no broader than is necessary to meet one of the following purposes:

- Allows the state or its political subdivisions to effectively and efficiently administer a governmental program, which administration would be significantly impaired without the exemption.
- Protects sensitive personal information that, if released, would be defamatory or would jeopardize an individual's safety; however, only the identity of an individual may be exempted under this provision.
- Protects trade or business secrets.

If, and only if, in reenacting an exemption that will repeal, the exemption is expanded (essentially creating a new exemption), then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are required.² If the exemption is reenacted with grammatical or stylistic changes that do not expand the exemption, if the exemption is narrowed, or if an exception to the exemption is created³ then a public necessity statement and a two-thirds vote for passage are not required.

Domestic Security Oversight Council

The Domestic Security Oversight Council (council) was created to serve as an advisory council to provide guidance to the state's regional domestic security task forces and other domestic security working groups. It also was created to make recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature

² Section 24(c), Art. I of the State Constitution.

³ An example of an exception to a public record exemption would be allowing another agency access to confidential or exempt records.

regarding the expenditure of funds and allocation of resources related to counterterrorism and domestic security efforts.⁴ The council must meet at least semiannually.⁵ Its duties include, in part, reviewing:

- The development, maintenance, and operation of a comprehensive multidisciplinary domestic security strategy that will guide the state's prevention, preparedness, protection, response, and recovery efforts against terrorist attacks and make appropriate recommendations to ensure the implementation of that strategy.
- The development of integrated funding plans to support specific projects, goals, and objectives necessary to the state's domestic security strategy and make appropriate recommendations to implement those plans.
- The overall statewide effectiveness of domestic security and counter-terrorism efforts in order to provide suggestions to improve or enhance those efforts.
- The efforts of any agency or entity involved in state or local domestic security and counter-terrorism efforts that requests assistance or that appears to need such review in order to provide suggestions to improve or enhance those efforts.
- Efforts within the state to better secure state and local infrastructure against terrorist attack and make recommendations to enhance the effectiveness of such efforts.
- Statewide or multiagency mobilizations and responses to major domestic security incidents and recommend suggestions for training, improvement of response efforts, or improvement of coordination or for other strategies that may be derived as necessary from such reviews.⁶

Exemptions under Review

Current law provides a public meeting exemption for those portions of council meetings wherein the council hears or discusses active criminal investigative information or active criminal intelligence information.⁷ The exemption applies only if:

- The chair of the council announces at a public meeting that, in connection with the performance of the council's duties, it is necessary that active criminal investigative information or active criminal intelligence information be discussed.
- The chair declares the specific reasons that it is necessary to close the meeting, or portion thereof, in a document that is a public record and filed with the official records of the council.
- The entire closed meeting is recorded. The recording must include the times of commencement and termination of the closed meeting or portion thereof, all discussion and proceedings, and the names of the persons present. No portion of the closed meeting may be off the record. The recording must be maintained by the council.⁸

An audio or video recording of, and any minutes and notes generated during, a closed council meeting are exempt from public records requirements. However, the public record exemption expires at such time as the criminal investigative information or criminal intelligence information discussed therein is no longer active.⁹

Only members of the council, staff supporting the council, and other persons whose presence has been authorized by the chair are allowed to attend closed portions of council meetings.¹⁰

⁵ Section 943.0313(3), F.S.

⁶ Section 943.0313(5)(a), F.S.

⁷ Section 119.011(3), F.S., defines "criminal intelligence information," "criminal investigative information," and "active." Criminal intelligence information means "information with respect to an identifiable person or group of persons collected by a criminal justice agency in an effort to anticipate, prevent, or monitor possible criminal activity." It is considered "active" as long as it is related to intelligence gathering conducted with a reasonable, good faith belief that it will lead to detection of ongoing or reasonably anticipated criminal activities. Criminal investigative information means "information with respect to an identifiable person or group of persons compiled by a criminal justice agency in the course of conducting a criminal investigation of a specific act or omission, including, but not limited to, information derived from laboratory tests, reports of investigators or informants, or any type of surveillance." Criminal investigative information is considered "active" as long as it is related to an ongoing investigation which is continuing with a reasonable, good faith anticipation of securing an arrest or prosecution in the foreseeable future.

Pursuant to the Open Government Sunset Review Act, the exemptions will repeal on October 2, 2010, unless reenacted by the Legislature.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The Florida Building Code was authorized by the 1998 Legislature to be the sole document incorporating all building standards adopted by all enforcement agencies and state agencies that license different types of facilities.

The Florida Building Commission was created and tasked with preparing the first Florida Building Code and continues to be responsible for the amendment of the code on a triennial basis.

The IRC is a comprehensive, stand-alone residential building code that creates minimum regulations for one- and two-family dwellings of three stories or less. A recent amendment to the IRC adds a requirement to install fire sprinklers in all newly constructed one- and two-family residential dwellings and townhouses effective January 1, 2011.

This bill amends the Florida Building Code to prohibit inclusion of the provisions of the International Residential Code mandating fire sprinklers in one- and two-family residences and townhouses either by adoption by the Florida Building Commission or local amendment.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2010.

The bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Background

The Florida Building Code¹ (Florida Building Code or code) was authorized by the 1998 Legislature² to be the sole document incorporating all building standards adopted by all enforcement agencies and state agencies that license different types of facilities. This unified code was created in response to a multiplicity of complex and confusing building codes and administrative processes that resulted in weak and inadequate compliance with local building codes across Florida.³ It also was created to provide uniform predictability and accountability.⁴ The code has created consistency of building throughout Florida and only allows for local variation of the code when there are compelling differences in local physical conditions.⁵

The Florida Building Commission (Florida Building Commission or commission) was created and tasked with preparing the first Florida Building Code published in 2001, and continues to be responsible for the amendment of the code on a triennial basis. The commission is comprised of 25 members who serve four year terms representing, in part, engineers, architects, contractors, building owners and insurers, state and local governments and persons with disabilities. Members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate.⁶

In addition to the triennial republishing of the Florida Building Code, the commission may amend the code once each year to incorporate interpretations and update standards if it finds that such amendment:

1. Is needed in order to accommodate the specific needs of this state.
2. Has a reasonable and substantial connection with the health, safety and welfare of the general public.
3. Strengthens or improves the Florida Building Code or, in the case of innovation or new technology, will provide equivalent or better products or methods or systems of construction.

⁶ Section 553.74, F.S.

4. Does not discriminate against materials, products, methods or systems of construction of demonstrated capabilities.
5. Does not degrade the effectiveness of the Florida Building Code.⁷

Local governments also may amend the code for their jurisdiction no more than once each six months. Any local amendment must address a unique local condition and be more stringent than the Florida Building Code. To ensure the criteria are met, issues of whether the amendment addresses a unique condition and is more stringent are appealable to the Florida Building Commission. Adopted local amendments are repealed or incorporated into the code every three years, upon the updating of the Florida Building Code.⁸

The last triennial edition of the Florida Building Code was published in 2007 and work is now underway on the 2010 code.⁹ The scope of the commission's work includes the following:

The commission shall select from available national or international model building codes, or other available building codes and standards currently recognized by the laws of this state, to form the foundation for the Florida Building Code. The commission may modify the selected model codes and standards as needed to accommodate the specific needs of this state. Standards or criteria referenced by the selected model codes shall be similarly incorporated by reference.¹⁰

The primary resource used by the commission in formulating the Florida Building Code is the International Residential Code (IRC). The IRC is a comprehensive, stand-alone residential building code that creates minimum regulations for one- and two-family dwellings of three stories or less. This code contains all building, plumbing, mechanical, fuel gas, energy and electrical provisions for one- and two-family residences. The IRC includes both a prescriptive approach (i.e., measures) and a performance approach (i.e., energy modeling) for determining compliance.

A recent amendment to the IRC adds a requirement to install fire sprinklers in all newly constructed one- and two-family residential dwellings and townhouses effective January 1, 2011.¹¹ As a result, there is an expectation that the Florida Building Commission will adopt similar standards in the 2010 edition of the Florida Building Code.

The need for fire sprinklers in one- and two-family residences and townhouses is widely debated. Those supporting residential fire sprinklers emphasize increased safety both to life and property and those opposing residential fire sprinklers emphasize the effectiveness of smoke detectors and the costs associated with requiring residential fire sprinklers.

The following graph illustrates that both the total number of deaths and the rate of deaths associated with residential fires has decreased during the most recently documented period (1977-2008).¹²

The National Home Builders Research Center collected information on sprinkler costs in a nationwide survey completed by 102 builders who built 5,527 homes with fire sprinklers in 2006. The survey results show the median cost of installing fire sprinklers in the 5,527 homes (median size 2,271 square feet) was approximately $5,573.¹³ The average cost allocation was as follows:

Category	Median Cost
Fire Sprinkler Permit Fee	$ 198
Fire Sprinkler Design Fee	$ 593
Water Service Pipe Changes	$ 866
Water Meter Changes	$ 172
Installation Cost	$1,829
Total Median Cost to Builder	$5,573

Another recent report by the Fire Protection Research Foundation, which used a smaller (30) sample of homes built in different regions of the United States, showed a similar average builder cost of $5,127 per single family home.¹⁴

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill amends the Florida Building Code to prohibit inclusion of the provisions of the International Residential Code mandating fire sprinklers in one- and two-family residences and townhouses either by adoption by the commission or local amendment. The specifically named IRC section is R313.¹⁵

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

The Help America Vote Act of 2002 requires that a state's voting system be accessible for individuals with disabilities, including accessibility for the blind and visually impaired, in a way that provides the same opportunity for access and participation as is provided for other voters. In order to accomplish this, each polling place must be equipped with at least one direct recording electronic voting system (DRE) or other system equipped for individuals with disabilities.¹

In 2007, the Florida Legislature changed the voting systems requirements for all voters, except disabled voters, to cast a marksense ballot on an optical scan system. Each county was still required to have one voter interface device in each polling place that met the accessibility requirement for individuals with disabilities, which could be a DRE. By 2012, however, the changes in the law required that disabled voters be provided a means to cast an independent, marksense ballot; i.e., a paper-based ballot system.²

Sixty-three counties meet the HAVA requirements for disabled voters through the use of touch screens with audio ballots. Only four counties, Duval, Hillsborough, Pinellas, and Sarasota, meet the 2012 requirement through their purchase of AutoMark which, at this time, is the only state certified optical scan (paper) system that meets the requirements of the law for 2012.³

The bill extends the 2012 paper ballot requirement for disabled voters to 2016.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends s. 101.56075, F.S., to delay from 2012 to 2016 the implementation of the requirement that persons with disabilities must vote on a voter interface device that uses a paper ballot.

RE: The Florida Lottery's Headquarters Facility

Dear Chairman Hays and Chairman Schenck:

As the Florida Lottery's Chief Administrative Officer with executive leadership responsibility for our facilities operations, Secretary Leo DiBenigno asked that I respond to your letter from February 11, 2010. You requested a consolidation plan for the Florida Lottery's leased headquarters facility, and a written response addressing facility security concerns, the tenant improvement allowance, and the rationale for using Lottery rule(s) for the lease procurement.

Space Consolidation Plan

Goal: Reduce excess office space in the Lottery's headquarters facility.

Strategies:

1. Free-up office space through consolidation and reconfiguration.
2. Secure new tenants.

The initial strategy is to reduce excess office space by first consolidating related Lottery work units and reconfiguring work areas, as economically as possible, based on current space standards. Emphasis will be placed on providing economies and efficiencies through shared resources (e.g., business center equipment, file storage, etc.). Excess office space is not located in large contiguous areas; instead, excess space is created incrementally due to individual offices and common areas that exceed current standards.

With the consolidation of Lottery work units and the resulting creation of contiguous available space, the second strategy will be pursued to secure new tenants. To implement these two strategies, the Florida Lottery will engage an architectural engineering firm, utilize the services of our tenant broker (Cushman & Wakefield), and consult with the Department of Management Services (DMS).

As background, DMS was recently consulted in regards to maximizing space utilization at the most economical cost. At that time, DMS recommended that the services of a professional architectural engineering firm be engaged. Such a firm would have the tools necessary to provide recommendations for the most economical and effective space utilization, thereby enhancing the "marketability" of space available for sublease.

The action plan described below will be completed by the architectural engineering firm and Cushman & Wakefield in concert with DMS:

Action Plan

1. Develop a timetable for completion of the Action Plan.
2. Interview work unit managers and review work flow functions.
3. Analyze the security evaluation and operational study on file.
4. Analyze the Multi-State Lottery Association (MUSL) rules applicable to the Florida Lottery for POWERBALL.
5. Conduct preliminary assessment of potential new tenants (both public and private).
6. Conduct a space needs analysis for program areas.
7. Apply space management principles using the most-recent DMS space utilization standards.
8. Identify reconfiguration and consolidation opportunities taking into account, for example:
 - Existing hard wall offices, meeting rooms and hallways that were built in compliance with standards that are now more than 22 years old;
 - Unique requirements associated with the presence of two data centers, draw production activities, law enforcement activities, player access, etc.;
 - Utilities infrastructure to include electrical, plumbing, HVAC, security, fiber optics; and,
 - Alternative ingress/egress options.
9. Identify necessary tenant improvements in anticipation of occupancy until at least July, 2018.
10. Identify potential new tenants (public and private) with space needs requirements and prospective occupancy dates.
11. Prepare and submit to Lottery Executive Management:
 - An executive summary of the analysis and recommendations that will result in the greatest long-term value to the State of Florida by consolidating excess office space and acquiring new tenants. (architectural engineering firm);
 - A detailed work plan with an estimation of costs associated with the demolition and reconfiguration of the facility, along with a proposed construction time table. (architectural engineering firm); and
 - An executive summary listing potential new tenants that have been identified, subject to space requirements, building renovation(s), adequate ingress/egress, etc. (Cushman & Wakefield).

While the emphasis in the action plan focuses on excess office space primarily, available warehouse space will also be taken into consideration with regards to securing tenants for subleasing.

Security Concerns

Protecting the security and integrity of Lottery operations is paramount to public confidence and, therefore, to the success of the department. To this end, section 24.108(7)(a), Florida Statutes, requires that the department undergo a periodic comprehensive study and evaluation of all aspects of operational security.

The principal security concerns for subleasing Lottery space have included:

- Live tickets in various areas throughout the building;
- The Lottery's gaming and financial computer systems, communication and network structures, including the gaming system's host servers;
- Confidential data on retailers, vendors, employees and prize claimants;
- Game drawing equipment; and
- Division of Security's advanced forensic testing equipment.

The current physical layout of the headquarters building has not allowed the department to isolate these areas from access or potential access by sub-tenants, their employees, vendors, and clientele. The Lottery has a history of receiving high marks for its security controls for both physical and technological assets and is committed to continuing that level of security. The Lottery will work with the architectural engineering firm to ensure these requirements are considered during the redesign or reconfiguration process.

Tenant Improvement Allowance (TIA)

A Tenant Improvement Allowance (TIA) of $2.34 million is to be used for consolidating Lottery work units into a contiguous area that will result in a smaller footprint while facilitating the opportunity for shared resources, such as copiers, printers, conference rooms, etc. Additionally, renovation of the facility's common areas, such as the lobby, restrooms and break areas, are planned. Taken together, these improvements should enhance the appeal of the facility to potential tenants.

It should be noted that approximately $380,000 of the TIA has been expended in the demolition of excess office space and building of the on-site draw production studio. The TIA funds also cover required architectural/engineering and permitting fees, as well as equipment and furniture relocation expenses, associated with the reconfiguration and renovation of space.

Use of Lottery Rule 53ER87-24

Rule 53ER87-24 was the purchasing rule in effect in 1997, when the Lottery's Request for Proposal (RFP) for a headquarters lease was issued. Thus, it was the governing rule in effect at the time of the RFP and was used for that reason.

The current lease, dated July 11, 2008, is a renewal of the 1997 lease, but on more favorable terms than the original lease. As stated above, the original lease was competitively acquired through an RFP and although the RFP nominally took place under rule 53ER87-24, the rule's substantive requirements were similar if not identical to chapter 255, Florida Statutes.

Background

Section 24.105(13), Florida Statutes, authorizes the adoption of alternative purchasing procedures by the Lottery. As stated in the 1987 legislation that created the Lottery, structures and procedures appropriate to the performance of other governmental functions would not necessarily be appropriate to the operation of a state lottery and thus, alternative purchasing rules were statutorily authorized to be adopted by the Lottery.

Rule 53ER87-24 was the purchasing rule adopted by the Lottery in 1987, at or near the time of Lottery startup. Substantively, the rule closely paralleled the provisions of chapter 255, Florida Statutes; both required competitive bidding for leases of 2,000 square feet or more.

In contrast to its 1987 counterpart, chapter 255 currently requires competitive bidding for leases of 5,000 square feet or more. The Lottery's current facility leasing rule, 53ER09-51, directly incorporates the competitive bidding requirements of chapter 255 for leases of 10,000 square feet or more. Thus, while rule 53ER09-51 increases the minimum square footage for competitive bidding to 10,000 square feet, it retains the requirement for open competition for all leases, regardless of size. For leases under 10,000 square feet, the Lottery rule requires competitive offers to be obtained, followed by negotiation of specific terms, conditions and cost. For these smaller leases, the Lottery has used its tenant broker, Cushman & Wakefield, to conduct comparative market analyses of potential lease facilities and to assist in negotiating lease terms, conditions and cost. All leases acquired under rule 53ER09-51 are required to provide the greatest long-term benefit to the State. The criteria for determining "greatest long-term benefit to the state" are set forth in section 24.105(13), Florida Statutes.

Both of the referenced rules, 53ER87-24 and 53ER09-51, were adopted pursuant to section 24.105(13), Florida Statutes. In adopting such procedures, the Lottery's goal has been to streamline the procurement process while retaining the open, competitive nature of Lottery procurements. This is one of the important tools the Lottery has used to gain the operational efficiency that has been reported favorably in various OPPAGA studies. It is a tool that was contemplated by the Legislature in 1987 when it directed the Lottery to operate in the manner of an entrepreneurial business enterprise. The Lottery has made judicious use of this authority for more than 20 years, again, contributing to the efficiency of its operations while maintaining fair and open competition in its procurement activities.

Space Utilization History

In an effort to further respond to questions that arose during the February 3 and 9 Committee meetings, please see the following summary of actions taken by the Florida Lottery to obtain subtenants for available office space in the headquarters facility:

July 2003 – Relocated the Tallahassee district office to the headquarters facility. Approximately 2,000 square feet of office space and 3,423 square feet of warehouse space are used to meet the district's space needs.

October 2006 – FDLE: approximately 14,700 square feet for a DNA lab. FDLE cited environmental and design concerns, which resulted in its pursuit of other space.

November 2006 – RESPECT of Florida: approximately 7,000 square feet for a t-shirt screen printing facility. The Florida Lottery was pursuing a contract where an employment center for disabled persons would manufacture the Lottery's screen printed t-shirts. However, the employment center had just initiated the plans, permitting and loan process for its facility in Madison County.

July 2007 – Hispanic Market Spanish Language Advertising contract: Offered space for co-location of account management staff, if the successful firm did not have an established presence in Florida. Presence must have been established within 90 days after contract award. Selected firm had an established presence; therefore, opted to not co-locate.

January 2008 – Instant Ticket Games contract: Mandated account management staff co-location, and offered space for co-location of telemarketing function. Relocation of the established telemarketing function from elsewhere in Florida would have resulted in increased contract cost; however, account management staff is co-located at Lottery headquarters.

May 2008 – Auditing Services contract: Offered office space to successful firm in the event they sought to establish a presence in Tallahassee, Fla. Selected firm had an established presence in Tallahassee.

May 2009 – General Market Advertising contract: Mandated co-location of account management staff. On September 8, 2009, account management staff co-located to Lottery headquarters.

November 2009 – Production Services contract: Offered office space to successful firm in the event co-location was necessary. Selected firm had an established presence in Tallahassee; therefore, co-location was not necessary.

April 2010 – Game Draws will commence in April 2010. The Florida Lottery completed the renovation of excess office space into a new Draw Studio occupying 3,756 square feet of space.

Chairman Hays, I appreciate your visit on the afternoon of February 11. This provided us an opportunity to show you first-hand some of the challenges associated with securing new tenants and consolidating our present headquarters facility.

I trust that this letter is responsive to your inquiry, and I look forward to addressing any further questions that either of you may have on this matter.
