SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Transportation concurrency is a growth management strategy aimed at ensuring transportation facilities and services are available concurrent with the impacts of development. Implementing transportation concurrency is optional for local governments. Local governments that choose to implement transportation concurrency are required to follow the guidelines set forth in s. 163.3180, F.S. The guidelines dictate standards local governments must follow when setting level of service (LOS) standards and proportionate share contributions.

Local governments may implement development regulations similar to transportation concurrency, such as mobility plans. By implementing these similar but not identical mobility funding systems, local governments have chosen to opt out of the transportation concurrency guidelines provided for in s. 163.3180, F.S.

CS/HB 319 requires any local government implementing an alternative mobility funding system to follow the same general principles as local governments implementing transportation concurrency. Alternative funding systems must provide a means for new development to pay for its impacts and proceed with development. If an alternative funding system is not mobility fee based, it may not require new developments to pay for existing transportation deficiencies.

The bill allows local governments to pool contributions from multiple applicants toward one planned facility improvement and clarifies when s. 163.3180(5)(h), F.S., applies to local governments implementing transportation concurrency or development agreements. The bill also provides that an applicant may satisfy concurrency requirements by making a good faith offer to enter into a binding agreement and requires local governments to provide the basis upon which landowners will be assessed a proportionate share of costs.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local funds.

The bill will take effect upon becoming law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Transportation Concurrency

Transportation concurrency is a growth management strategy aimed at ensuring that transportation facilities and services are available concurrent with the impacts of development. To carry out concurrency, local governments must define what constitutes an adequate LOS for the transportation system and measure whether the service needs of a new development exceed existing capacity and scheduled improvements for that period. If adequate capacity is not available, then the developer must provide the necessary improvements, provide monetary contribution toward the improvements, or wait until government provides the necessary improvements.[1]

Level of Service

Level of service (LOS) is a technical measure of the quality of service provided by a roadway. LOS is graded on an A through F scale based on the average arterial speed of a roadway. An uncongested roadway with a high average arterial speed will receive an A, while a congested roadway with a low average arterial speed will receive an F.[2] Local governments, in conjunction with the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT), are responsible for setting LOS standards for roadways.[3]

Proportionate Share

Proportionate share is the amount of money a developer must contribute to mitigate the transportation impacts of a new development. Proportionate share contributions are triggered when a new development will cause a decrease in the LOS grade below a set standard. When a proportionate share contribution is triggered, a developer must, at minimum, contribute money toward one or several mobility improvements. However, developers are only required to contribute toward deficiencies they create, and are not required to correct existing deficiencies.[4]

Transportation Concurrency in Florida

Florida adopted the concept of transportation concurrency with the passage of the 1985 Growth Management Act. Since adoption, the legislature has frequently revisited the concept of transportation concurrency, most recently making substantial changes to s. 163.3180, F.S., in 2005, 2007, 2009 and 2011.[5]

Transportation concurrency in urban areas is often more costly and functionally difficult than in non-urban areas.[6] As a result, transportation concurrency can result in urban sprawl and the discouragement of development in urban areas, in direct conflict with the general goals and policies of part II, ch. 163, F.S. Also, transportation concurrency can prevent the implementation of viable forms of alternative transit.[7]

Additionally, the frequent changes to transportation concurrency requirements have affected local governments in different ways. In some cases, the changes have provided more flexibility, less state oversight and created more planning tools for local governments, but in other cases, the changes created solutions that were inflexible and unworkable for all but a few local governments, with many local governments having difficulty implementing a transportation concurrency system or local governments implementing highly inconsistent policies.[8]

Recent legislative changes to transportation concurrency have sought to address these problems. In 2011, the Legislature passed the Community Planning Act, which made comprehensive changes to growth management regulation in Florida. As part of the act, the Legislature overhauled transportation concurrency and made it optional for local governments.[9] The act also gave local governments the option of adopting alternative mobility funding systems.[10]

Local governments choosing to implement transportation concurrency must still follow established guidelines related to LOS standards and proportionate share contributions.[11] However, local governments that implement alternative mobility funding systems similar to concurrency, but not under the auspices of s. 163.3180, F.S., are not required to follow the LOS and proportionate share guidelines established by s. 163.3180, F.S.

Effect of Proposed Changes

CS/HB 319 amends s. 163.3180(5), F.S., by placing new requirements on local governments that implement alternative mobility funding systems. The bill requires these alternative systems to allow developers to "pay and go" for new development. Under the bill, once a developer pays for its identified transportation impacts, the local government must allow the development process to move forward. The bill encourages local governments without a transportation concurrency funding system to implement an alternative mobility funding system.

The bill prohibits alternative mobility funding systems that are not mobility fee based from requiring developers to pay for existing transportation deficiencies. Local governments must apply revenue they collect from alternative funding systems to implement the needs upon which the revenue collection was based and mobility fees must comply with the dual rationale nexus test. Under the dual rationale nexus test, a court will find an impact fee reasonable if: 1) it offsets needs that are sufficiently attributable to the new development and 2) the fees collected are adequately earmarked for the benefit of the residents of the new development.[12]

The bill makes the following changes to transportation concurrency mechanisms:

- Allows developers to satisfy the transportation concurrency requirements of a local comprehensive plan by making a good faith offer to enter a binding agreement to pay for or construct its proportionate share of impacts.

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On March 13th, 2013, the House Economic Development and Tourism Subcommittee adopted a strike-all amendment and passed the bill as a CS. The CS differs from the original bill as follows:

- Removes definition of mobility plan.
- Removes language applying transportation concurrency requirements to level of service based systems and mobility fee based systems.
- Removes prohibition on calculating proportionate share contributions based on mass transit operation or maintenance.
- Removes jurisdictional expansion of transportation development authorities.
- Removes modification of voting districts for the Board of Supervisors.
- Clarifies that 163.3180(5)(h), F.S., applies only to local governments that continue to implement a transportation concurrency plan.
- Provides for development agreements.
- Clarifies when applicants may satisfy concurrency requirements.
- Allows local governments to pool contributions from multiple applicants.
- Requires local governments to provide the basis upon which landowners will be assessed certain costs.
- Encourages local governments without transportation concurrency to adopt an alternative funding system.
- Clarifies that a developer may "pay and go" for its impacts.
- Requires revenue generated from a funding system to be applied to implement the needs upon which the revenue is based.

- Requires mobility fees to comply with the dual rational nexus test
- Prohibits alternative systems from holding new developments responsible for existing impacts.

The analysis has been updated to reflect the strike all amendment.

On March 20th, 2013, the House Transportation and Highway Safety Subcommittee adopted two minor technical amendments and passed the bill as a CS. The CS differs from CS/HB 319 as follows:

- Clarifies when local governments are not required to approve new development.
- Clarifies that the alternative system referenced in paragraph (i) is an alternative mobility funding system.

The analysis has been updated to reflect the two amendments incorporated in CS/CS/HB 319.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to community transportation projects; amending s. 163.3180, F.S., relating to transportation concurrency; revising and providing requirements for local governments that continue to implement a transportation concurrency system; revising provisions for applicants for rezoning or a permit for a planned development to satisfy concurrency requirements; providing for such provisions to apply to development agreements; authorizing a local government to accept contributions from multiple applicants to satisfy such requirements under certain conditions; requiring local governments to provide the basis upon which landowners will be assessed certain costs; encouraging local governments without transportation concurrency to adopt an alternative mobility funding system; prohibiting alternative systems from denying, timing, or phasing a development application process if the developer agrees to pay for identified transportation impacts; requiring mobility fees to comply with the dual rational nexus test; prohibiting alternative systems from holding new developments responsible for existing deficiencies; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Paragraph (h) of subsection (5) of section 163.3180, Florida Statutes, is amended, and paragraph (i) is added to that subsection, to read:

163.3180 Concurrency.—

(5)

(h)1. Local governments that continue to implement a transportation concurrency system, whether in the form adopted into the comprehensive plan before the effective date of the Community Planning Act, chapter 2011-139, Laws of Florida, or as subsequently modified, must:

a.~~1.~~ Consult with the Department of Transportation when proposed plan amendments affect facilities on the strategic intermodal system.

b.~~2.~~ Exempt public transit facilities from concurrency. For the purposes of this sub-subparagraph ~~subparagraph~~, public transit facilities include transit stations and terminals; transit station parking; park-and-ride lots; intermodal public transit connection or transfer facilities; fixed bus, guideway, and rail stations; and airport passenger terminals and concourses, air cargo facilities, and hangars for the assembly, manufacture, maintenance, or storage of aircraft. As used in this sub-subparagraph ~~subparagraph~~, the terms "terminals" and "transit facilities" do not include seaports or commercial or residential development constructed in conjunction with a public transit facility.

c.~~3.~~ Allow an applicant for a development-of-regional-impact development order, development agreement, ~~a~~ rezoning, or other land use development permit to satisfy the transportation concurrency requirements of the local comprehensive plan, the local government's concurrency management system, and s. 380.06, when applicable, if:

(I)~~a.~~ The applicant in good faith offers to enter ~~enters~~ into a binding agreement to pay for or construct its proportionate share of required improvements in a manner consistent with this subsection.

(II)~~b.~~ The proportionate-share contribution or construction is sufficient to accomplish one or more mobility improvements that will benefit a regionally significant transportation facility. A local government may accept contributions from multiple applicants for a planned improvement if it maintains contributions in a separate account designated for that purpose.

d.~~c.(I)~~ Provide the basis upon ~~The local government has provided a means by~~ which the landowners ~~landowner~~ will be assessed a proportionate share of the cost addressing the transportation impacts resulting from a ~~of providing the transportation facilities necessary to serve the~~ proposed development.

2. An applicant shall not be held responsible for the additional cost of reducing or eliminating deficiencies.

~~(II)~~ When an applicant contributes or constructs its proportionate share pursuant to this paragraph ~~subparagraph~~, a local government may not require payment or construction of transportation facilities whose costs would be greater than a development's proportionate share of the improvements necessary to mitigate the development's impacts.

a.~~(A)~~ The proportionate-share contribution shall be calculated based upon the number of trips from the proposed development expected to reach roadways during the peak hour from the stage or phase being approved, divided by the change in the peak hour maximum service volume of roadways resulting from construction of an improvement necessary to maintain or achieve the adopted level of service, multiplied by the construction cost, at the time of development payment, of the improvement necessary to maintain or achieve the adopted level of service.

b. ~~(B)~~ In using the proportionate-share formula provided in this subparagraph, the applicant, in its traffic analysis, shall identify those roads or facilities that have a transportation deficiency in accordance with the transportation deficiency as defined in subparagraph 4 ~~sub-subparagraph c~~. The proportionate-share formula provided in this subparagraph shall be applied only to those facilities that are determined to be significantly impacted by the project traffic under review. If any road is determined to be transportation deficient without the project traffic under review, the costs of correcting that deficiency shall be removed from the project's proportionate-share calculation and the necessary transportation improvements to correct that deficiency shall be considered to be in place for purposes of the proportionate-share calculation. The improvement necessary to correct the transportation deficiency is the funding responsibility of the entity that has maintenance responsibility for the facility. The development's proportionate share shall be calculated only for the needed transportation improvements that are greater than the identified deficiency.

c. ~~(C)~~ When the provisions of subparagraph 1. and this subparagraph have been satisfied for a particular stage or phase of development, all transportation impacts from that stage or phase for which mitigation was required and provided shall be deemed fully mitigated in any transportation analysis for a subsequent stage or phase of development. Trips from a previous stage or phase that did not result in impacts for which mitigation was required or provided may be cumulatively analyzed with trips from a subsequent stage or phase to determine whether an impact requires mitigation for the subsequent stage or phase.

d. ~~(D)~~ In projecting the number of trips to be generated by the development under review, any trips assigned to a toll-financed facility shall be eliminated from the analysis.

e. ~~(E)~~ The applicant shall receive a credit on a dollar-for-dollar basis for impact fees, mobility fees, and other transportation concurrency mitigation requirements paid or payable in the future for the project. The credit shall be reduced up to 20 percent by the percentage share that the project's traffic represents of the added capacity of the selected improvement, or by the amount specified by local ordinance, whichever yields the greater credit.

3. ~~d.~~ This subsection does not require a local government to approve a development that is not ~~otherwise~~ qualified for approval pursuant to the applicable local comprehensive plan and land development regulations for reasons other than transportation impacts.

4. ~~e.~~ As used in this subsection, the term "transportation deficiency" means a facility or facilities on which the adopted level-of-service standard is exceeded by the existing, committed, and vested trips, plus additional projected background trips from any source other than the development project under review, and trips that are forecast by established traffic standards, including traffic modeling, consistent with the University of Florida's Bureau of Economic and Business Research medium population projections. Additional projected background trips are to be coincident with the particular stage or phase of development under review.

(i) If a local government elects to repeal transportation concurrency, it is encouraged to adopt an alternative mobility funding system that uses one or more of the tools and techniques identified in paragraph (f). Any alternative mobility funding system adopted may not be used to deny, time, or phase an application for site plan approval, plat approval, final subdivision approval, building permits, or the functional equivalent of such approvals provided that the developer agrees to pay for the development's identified transportation impacts via the funding mechanism implemented by the local government. The revenue from the funding mechanism used in the alternative system must be used to implement the needs of the local government's plan which serves as the basis for the fee imposed. A mobility fee-based funding system must comply with the dual rational nexus test applicable to impact fees. An alternative system that is not mobility fee-based shall not be applied in a manner that imposes upon new development any responsibility for funding an existing transportation deficiency as defined in paragraph (h).

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

CS/HB 415 revises the process for designating brownfield areas and specifies the criteria that must be satisfied when a brownfield designation is proposed by a local government, or a person other than a governmental entity, such as an individual, corporation, community-based organization or not-for-profit corporation.

The bill clarifies the requirements that apply to all local procedures for brownfield area designations. The bill requires designations of land located in certain economic regions to follow specified Florida Statutes for cities and counties, respectively. The bill requires additional procedures for brownfield designations of land located outside certain economic regions. The bill also specifies the notice and hearing requirements and criteria that must be met for brownfield designation proposals by a local government or a person other than a governmental entity.

Local governments that designate a brownfield area are not required to use the term "brownfield area" within the name of the brownfield area proposed for designation by the local government.

The bill provides relief from liability for property damages, including diminished value of real property or improvements; lost or delayed rent, sale, or use of real property or improvements; or stigma to real property or improvements caused by contamination for those who execute and implement to successful completion a brownfield site rehabilitation agreement and their successors. The liability protection applies to causes of action accruing on or after July 1, 2013. The bill also provides that liability protection does not limit the right of a third party other than the state to pursue an action for damages to persons for bodily harm.

The bill provides an effective date of July 1, 2013.

The bill does not have a fiscal impact on state or local government revenues.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Brownfields

A "brownfield site" is real property, the expansion, redevelopment, or reuse of which may be complicated by actual or perceived environmental contamination.[1]

Furthermore, a "brownfield area" is a contiguous area of one or more brownfield sites, portions of which may not be contaminated, and which has been designated by local government resolution. Brownfield areas may include all or portions of community redevelopment areas, enterprise zones, empowerment zones; other such designated economically deprived communities and areas, and Environmental Protection Agency-designated brownfield pilot projects.[2]

In 1995, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) initiated a program to empower states, communities, and other stakeholders in economic redevelopment to work together in a timely manner to prevent, assess, safely clean up, and reuse brownfields.[3]

The federal brownfields program was significantly expanded on January 11, 2002, when President Bush signed into law the Small Business Relief and Liability and Brownfields Revitalization Act,[4] also known as the "Brownfields Amendments." For example, Sections 221-22 of the Brownfield Amendments included liability exemptions for prospective purchasers, and for owners of contiguous properties who were not a fault in causing the contamination.[5] The main purpose of this new law was to create incentives for the redevelopment of brownfield properties and Superfund sites and provide grants to assess or cleanup a brownfields property.

Florida followed federal law in 1997 when the Legislature enacted the Brownfields Redevelopment Act[6] (Act). The Act provided incentives for the private sector to redevelop abandoned or underused real property, which was complicated by real or perceived environmental contamination. The Act provides legislative intent; a brownfield area designation process; environmental cleanup criteria; a program administration process; eligibility criteria and liability protections; and economic and financial incentives. The Act also provides for a Brownfield Areas Loan Guarantee Program, which is limited to certain percentages of the underlying loan.[7]

Brownfield Designation and Administration

The designation of a brownfield area may be initiated in one of two ways:[8]

- By a local government to encourage redevelopment of an area of specific interest to the community.

- By a person[9] with a redevelopment plan in mind.

Designation of a brownfield area must come from the local government through the passage of a local resolution. Once a brownfield area has been designated, the local government must notify the Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and attach a map that clearly identifies the parcels proposed for designation or a less-detailed map accompanied by a detailed legal description of the brownfield area. If a property owner within the proposed area requests in writing to have his or property removed from the proposed designation, then the local government must grant the request.[10]

If a local government proposes to designate a brownfield area that is outside a community redevelopment area, enterprise zone, empowerment zone, closed military base, or designated brownfield pilot project area, the local government must adopt a resolution pursuant to the process established under the Act. At least one of the required public hearings must be conducted as close as reasonably practicable to the area proposed for designation to provide an opportunity for the public to provide input as to the size of the area, the objectives for rehabilitation, job opportunities and economic developments anticipated, neighborhood residents' considerations, and other local issues.[11]

Required considerations

In determining the area to be designated, the local government must consider:[12]

- Whether the brownfield area warrants economic development and has a reasonable potential for such activities.
- Whether the proposed area to be designated represents a reasonable focused approach and is not overly large in geographic coverage.
- Whether the area has potential to interest the private sector in participating in rehabilitation.
- Whether the area contains sites or parts of sites suitable for limited recreational open space, cultural, or historical preservation purposes.

When designation is necessary

A local government must designate a brownfield area under the following conditions:[13]

- The person who owns or controls a potential brownfield site is requesting the designation and has agreed to rehabilitate the site.
- The redevelopment and rehabilitation of the proposed brownfield site will result in economic productivity of the area and will create at least 5 new permanent jobs at the brownfield site. The full-time positions must be associated with the implementation of the brownfield site agreement[14] and with the redevelopment project's demolition or construction activities pursuant to the redevelopment of the proposed brownfield site or area.
- The redevelopment of the proposed brownfield site is consistent with the local comprehensive plan and is a permittable use under the applicable local land development regulations.
- Notice has been provided to neighbors and nearby residents of the proposed area to be designated and the person proposing the area for designation has provided the neighbors and residents an opportunity to comment and make suggestions about rehabilitation.

[14] See s. 376.80(5), F.S., for the contents of a brownfield site agreement.

- The person proposing the area for designation has provided reasonable assurance that there are sufficient financial resources to implement and complete the rehabilitation agreement and redevelopment of the brownfield area.

The designation of a brownfield area and the identification of a person responsible for brownfield site rehabilitation simply entitle the identified person to negotiate a brownfield site rehabilitation agreement with the DEP or an approved local pollution control program.[15]

Public Notice Requirements

The Act also establishes public notice requirements for local governments to follow when designating a brownfield. Municipalities are required to adopt a resolution in accordance with the procedures under the Municipal Home Rule Powers Act[16] and counties are required to adopt a resolution in accordance with the county government provisions of the state statute.[17]

For municipalities,[18] the notice for public hearings on the proposed resolution must follow the procedures used when a proposed ordinance changes the permitted, conditional, or prohibited uses within a zoning category, or changes the actual zoning map designation of a parcel or parcels of land of 10 contiguous acres or more, which are as follows:

- Two advertised public hearings on the proposed ordinance, one of which must be held after 5 p.m. on a weekday, unless the local governing body, by a majority plus one vote, elects to conduct that hearing at another time of day.
    - The first public hearing must be held at least seven days after the day that the first advertisement is published.
    - The second hearing must be held at least 10 days after the first hearing and advertised at least five days prior to the public hearing.
- The required advertisements must be no less than 2 columns wide by 10 inches long in a standard size or tabloid size newspaper and the headline must be in a type of at least 18 point.
    - The advertisement must be placed in a newspaper of general paid circulation in the municipality and of general interest and readership in the municipality, not one of limited subject matter.[19] The legislative intent is that whenever possible, the advertisement appears in a newspaper that is published at least than five days a week unless the only newspaper in the municipality is published less than five days a week. The form of the notice is provided.[20]
    - With the exception of amendments which change the actual list of permitted, conditional, or prohibited uses within a zoning category, the advertisement must contain a geographic location map clearly indicating the area covered by the proposed ordinance. The map must include major street names and must also be included in an online[21] notice.

For counties,[22] it is unclear whether the notice for the public hearings must follow the procedures used when a proposal seeks to change the permitted, conditional, or prohibited uses within a zoning category, or the actual zoning map designation of a parcel or parcels of land of 10 contiguous acres or more. The statutory reference under the Act describes how the required advertisements are to appear in a newspaper of general circulation; however, it does not require counties to hold public hearings.[23] Thus, there is a technical error in the statutory cross-reference under the Act.

The provisions of the Act relating to the brownfield designation are unclear and may lead to varying interpretations. For example, the Act provides guidance as to the requirements for a local government proposing the designation of a brownfield area outside similar redevelopment areas, such as community redevelopment areas and enterprise zones; however, it does not specifically state what provisions apply when a local government proposes to designate a brownfield area within one of these areas. There are currently no judicial interpretations on the portion of the Act creating this ambiguity.[24] It is also unclear as to which provisions apply to proposed brownfield designations whether being proposed by a county, municipality, or a person other than a nongovernmental entity.

Eligibility criteria

A person who has not caused or contributed to the contamination of a brownfield site on or after July 1, 1997, is eligible to participate in the brownfield program.[25] However, certain sites are not eligible for the program. Those sites include potential brownfield sites that:

- are subject to an ongoing formal judicial or administrative enforcement or corrective action pursuant to federal authority; or
- have obtained or are required to obtain a hazardous waste operation, storage, or disposal facility permit, unless specifically exempted by a memorandum of agreement with the EPA;[26]

Protection from contamination remediation liability

A person who executes and complies with the terms of a brownfield rehabilitation agreement is relieved of further liability for remediation of the contaminated sites to the state and to third parties and of liability in contribution to any other party who has or may incur cleanup liability for the contaminated site or sites.[27]

Until a person successfully completes a rehabilitation agreement, that liability protection may be revoked upon that person's failure to comply with the rehabilitation agreement.[28] For those persons who comply with the terms of a rehabilitation agreement, DEP must attempt to negotiate an agreement with the U.S. EPA to forego federal enforcement.[29]

The eligibility and liability provisions of the Act do not limit the right of a third party other than the state to pursue an action for property damages or personal injury; however, such an action may not compel site rehabilitation beyond that which is required in the approved brownfield site rehabilitation agreement or required by DEP or an approved local pollution control program.[30]

If a state or local government has acquired a contaminated site within a brownfield area as a gift or by virtue of its operations as a sovereign, it is not liable for implementing site rehabilitation corrective actions, unless the state or local government has caused or contributed to a release of contaminants.[31] Also, nonprofit conservation organizations, acting for the public interest, which purchase contaminated sites and which did not contribute to the release of contamination on the site also warrant protection from liability.[32]

Lenders are afforded certain liability protections to encourage financing of real property in brownfield areas. Essentially, the same liability protections apply to lenders if they have not caused or contributed to a release of a contaminant at the brownfield site.[33]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Legislative Intent

The Committee Substitute (CS) specifies that brownfields redevelopment, when properly done, can be a significant element in community revitalization, especially within community redevelopment areas, empowerment zones, closed military bases, or designated brownfield pilot project areas.

Brownfield Program Administration Process

The bill revises the provisions relating to the process for designating brownfield areas, and clarifies the criteria that must be satisfied when a brownfield area designation is proposed by a local government or a person other than a governmental entity, such as an individual, corporation, community-based organization, or not-for-profit corporation.

The bill also clarifies that the following requirements apply to all brownfield area designations, regardless of whether the area proposed for designation is located inside or outside a community redevelopment area, enterprise zone, empowerment zone, closed military base, or designated pilot project area:

- A local government must notify DEP of its decision to designate a brownfield area for rehabilitation. The bill requires the notification to occur within 30 days after the adoption of a resolution by the local governing body.
- The adopted resolution must include a map that clearly identifies the parcels proposed for designation or a less-detailed map accompanied by a detailed legal description of the brownfield area. The bill adds the requirement that the local government must adopt the resolution pursuant to the procedures and requirements of the local government in effect at the time of the proposed designation, unless s. 376.80, F.S., provides otherwise.

Public hearing and notice requirement

The bill clarifies what is required of brownfield designations inside certain regions. The bill requires that the public hearings, conditions, and criteria involved when a local government designates a brownfield area within a community redevelopment area, enterprise zone, empowerment zone, closed military base, or designated brownfield pilot project must follow ss. 166.041, F.S., for cities, and 125.66, F.S., for counties.

Currently, the Act provides that when a local government proposes to designate a brownfield area outside a community redevelopment area, enterprise zone, empowerment zone, closed military base, or designated brownfield pilot project area the local government must provide notice and hold public hearings.

As currently provided in s. 376.80, F.S., municipalities and counties are required to adopt the designation resolution in accordance with the procedures in chs. 166 and 125, F.S., respectively.

In the same manner as municipalities, the bill requires counties to notice public hearings in the manner used when a proposed ordinance changes the list of permitted, conditional, or prohibited uses within a zoning category, or changes the zoning map designation of a parcel or parcels of land involving 10 contiguous acres or more. Thus, the bill clarifies that counties must hold two advertised public hearings and when the hearings must be held.

[33] See s. 376.82(4), F.S.

The bill maintains the requirement that the local government or person proposing the designation to conduct at least one public hearing as close as reasonably practicable to the area proposed for designation to give the public an opportunity to provide input as to the size of the area, the objectives for rehabilitation, job opportunities and economic developments anticipated, and neighborhood residents' considerations. The bill specifies that this public hearing must occur prior to the designation of the proposed brownfield area.

The bill provides that a local government that a designates a brownfield area is not required to use the term "brownfield area" within the name of the brownfield area proposed for designation by the local government.

Liability Protection

The liability portion of the bill expands the protections provided to the person responsible for the brownfield site rehabilitation and may encourage participation in the brownfield program.

Specifically, the bill provides relief from liability for property damages, including but not limited to, diminished value of real property or improvements; lost or delayed rent, sale, or use of real property or improvements; or stigma to real property or improvements caused by contamination for those who execute and comply with the terms of a brownfield site rehabilitation agreement. The liability protection applies to causes of action accruing on or after July 1, 2013. Those property owners who are impacted by contamination addressed by a rehabilitation agreement may also be limited in their ability to seek relief.

The bill also provides that liability protection does not limit the right of a third party other than the state to pursue an action for damages to persons for bodily harm.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends s. 376.78(8), F.S., relating to legislative intent, to provide that brownfield redevelopment when done properly can be significant element in community revitalization, especially community redevelopment areas, enterprise zones, empowerment zones, closed military bases, and designated brownfield pilot project areas.

Section 2: Amends s. 376.80(1) and (2), F.S., to revise the process for designating brownfield areas and clarifying the criteria that must be met when a brownfield area designation is proposed by a local government or a person other than a governmental entity such as an individual, corporation, community-based organization, or not-for-profit corporation, and creates subsection (12) of s. 376.80, F.S. A new subsection provides that a local government that a designates a brownfield area is not required to use the term "brownfield area" within the name of the brownfield area proposed for designation by the local government.

Section 3: Amends s. 376.82(2), F.S., relating to eligibility criteria and liability protection, to provide relief from liability for property damages caused by contamination for those who execute and comply with the terms of a brownfield site rehabilitation agreement. The liability protection applies to causes of action accruing on or after July 1, 2013. The bill provides that liability protection does not limit the right of a third party other than the state to pursue an action for damages to persons for bodily harm.

Section 4: Provides an effective date of July 1, 2013.

3. If a property owner within the area proposed for designation by the local government requests in writing to have his or her property removed from the proposed designation, the local government shall grant the request.

4. For municipalities, the governing body shall adopt the resolution in accordance with the procedures outlined in s. 166.041, except that the notice for the public hearings on the proposed resolution must be in the form established in s. 166.041(3)(c)2. However, the job creation requirement does ~~shall~~ not apply to the rehabilitation and redevelopment of a brownfield site that will provide affordable housing as defined in s. 420.0004 or the creation of recreational areas, conservation areas, or parks;

3. The redevelopment of the proposed brownfield site is consistent with the local comprehensive plan and is a permittable use under the applicable local land development regulations;

4. Notice of the proposed rehabilitation of the brownfield area has been provided to neighbors and nearby residents of the proposed area to be designated pursuant to subsection (1), and the person proposing the area for designation has afforded to those receiving notice the opportunity for comments and suggestions about rehabilitation. Notice pursuant to this subparagraph must be made in a newspaper of general circulation in the area, at least 16 square inches in size, and the notice must be posted in the affected area; and

5. The person proposing the area for designation has provided reasonable assurance that he or she has sufficient financial resources to implement and complete the rehabilitation agreement and redevelopment of the brownfield site.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

In response to challenges the Department of Defense (DoD) was facing to repair, renovate, and construct military family housing, Congress enacted the Military Housing Privatization Initiative (Housing Initiative) in 1996. The Housing Initiative authorizes public-private partnerships between the military and private developers to facilitate cost effective construction, financing, and management of military family housing.

Section 196.199, F.S., currently provides an exemption from ad valorem taxation for United States property. This exemption specifically applies to leasehold interests in property owned by the United States government when the lessee serves or performs a governmental, municipal or public purpose or function.

CS/HB 531 provides a definition of property of the United States that includes any leasehold interest of, and improvements affixed to, land owned by the United States acquired or constructed and used pursuant to the Housing Initiative. The bill provides that the term "improvements" includes actual housing units and any facilities that are directly related to such units. The bill provides that an application for exemption is not necessary for leasehold interests and improvements described in the bill.

The bill also amends the definition of "permanent residence" in ch. 196, F.S., which relates to property tax exemptions, to provide that "[t]he permanent residence of a person incarcerated in a state correctional institution as defined in s. 944.02 or similar institution in another state or a Federal correctional institution is the location of such institution." Eligibility for the homestead exemption(s) provided in Article VII, section 6 of the Florida Constitution, is based upon the "permanent residence" of the property owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner.

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) estimated that the provisions of the bill related to s. 196.199, F.S., will have no revenue impact. The REC has not yet estimated the provision of the bill related to the definition of "permanent residence" in s. 196.012(18), F.S.

The bill is effective upon becoming law and applies retroactively to January 1, 2007.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

Background- Military Housing Privatization Initiative

During the 1990s, DoD designated nearly two-thirds (approximately 180,000 houses) of its domestic family housing inventory as inadequate, needing repair or complete replacement.[1] Many of the housing units were constructed during World War II or soon after, and were designed only to last a few years. The problem was severe enough that many feared that service members would leave the military due to the lack of adequate housing. In addition, many older units had environmental problems such as lead-based paint, asbestos, and could not meet current building codes.[2] To remedy the problem, DoD estimated it would cost approximately $20 billion and take up to 40 years using the traditional military construction (MILCON) approach. In response, DoD began seeking a cheaper and faster solution.[3]

In 1996, Congress enacted the Military Housing Privatization Initiative (Housing Initiative) codified at 10 U.S.C. § 2871 et seq.[4] The Housing Initiative provides DoD with various authorities to allow private-sector financing and expertise in order to improve the military housing situation. Such authorities can be used individually or in combination and include:

- Guarantees, both loan and rental;
- Conveyance or leasing of existing property and facilities;
- Differential lease payments;
- Investments, both limited partnerships and stock or bond ownership; and
- Direct loans.[5]

In a typical privatized military housing project, a military department (Army, Navy, or Air Force) enters into an agreement with a private developer selected in a competitive process to own, maintain and operate military family housing. Jointly, the military department and private developer create a public-private venture (PPV). The military department then leases land, improved, unimproved or both, to the PPV for a term of 50 years while retaining both a present and future interest in the land and any improvements. As part of the terms of the lease agreement, the private developer is subsequently responsible for constructing new homes or renovating existing houses and leasing this housing, giving preference to service members and their families. The land and title to the houses conveyed to the PPV, as well as any improvements made by the PPV, during the duration of the lease automatically revert to the military department upon expiration or termination of the ground lease.[6] The Housing Initiative provides flexibility in the structure and terms of the transactions with the private sector. Unlike traditional MILCON projects, these projects are controlled by a private developer acting through the PPV rather than through unilateral government control.[7,8]

Property Taxes in Florida

The Florida Constitution reserves ad valorem taxation to local governments and prohibits the state from levying ad valorem taxes on real and tangible personal property.[10] The ad valorem tax or "property tax" is an annual tax levied by counties, cities, school districts, and some special districts based on the value of real and tangible personal property as of January 1 of each year.[11] Section 4, Article VII of the Florida Constitution, requires that all property be assessed at just value for ad valorem tax purposes. Sections 3, 4, and 6, Article VII of the Florida Constitution, provide for specified assessment limitations, property classifications and exemptions. After the property appraiser has considered any assessment limitation or use classification affecting the just value of a property, an assessed value is produced. The assessed value is then reduced by any exemptions to produce the taxable value.[12] Such exemptions include, but are not limited to: homestead exemptions and exemptions for property used for educational, religious, or charitable purposes.[13] The Florida Constitution strictly limits the Legislature's authority to provide exemptions or adjustments to fair market value.[14] However, the Florida Constitution provides for property tax relief in the form of certain valuation differentials, assessment limitations, and exemptions.[15]

Taxation of United States Property

Generally, the federal government and property owned by the federal government are immune from state and local taxation.[16] The federal government's immunity from taxation required by state law to fall upon the federal government extends to its agents and its instrumentalities.[17] Congress has the exclusive authority to determine whether and to what extent its instrumentalities are immune from state and local taxes.[18]

Statutory Exemption for United States Property

Section 196.199(1)(a), F.S., recognizes the immunity that property of the United States enjoys, and the ability of Congress to waive that immunity in specified circumstances: "All property of the United States shall be exempt from ad valorem taxation except such property as is subject to tax . . . under any law of the United States." This section of statute does not specifically describe leaseholds and improvements constructed pursuant to the Housing Initiative as being eligible for this exemption from ad valorem taxation.

Section 196.199(2)(a), F.S., provides an exemption from ad valorem and intangible taxation for leasehold interests in property owned by the United States when the lessee is performing a "governmental, municipal, or public purpose or function" as defined in s. 196.012(6), F.S. Under s. 196.012(6), F.S., such a purpose is deemed served when "the lessee... is demonstrated to perform a function or serve a governmental purpose which could properly be performed or served by an appropriate governmental unit or ... would otherwise be a valid subject for the allocation of public funds."

Current Litigation

Until recently, no attempt had been made to subject the Housing Initiatives projects in Florida to ad valorem tax. In 2012, the Monroe County property appraiser asserted that the Housing Initiative project improvements at Naval Air Station Key West were subject to tax retroactive to 2008. A legal case is currently pending on this matter in the Sixteenth Judicial Circuit.[19]

Homestead Exemption

Article VII, section 6(a) of the Florida Constitution provides in pertinent part:

> Every person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner, shall be exempt from taxation thereon, except assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of twenty-five thousand dollars and, for all levies other than school district levies, on the assessed valuation greater than fifty thousand dollars and up to seventy-five thousand dollars, upon establishment of right thereto in the manner prescribed by law.

These exemptions are reflected in s. 196.031, F.S., in pertinent part as follows:

> (1)(a) Every person who, on January 1, has the legal title or beneficial title in equity to real property in this state and who resides thereon and in good faith makes the same his or her permanent residence, or the permanent residence of another or others legally or naturally dependent upon such person, is entitled to an exemption from all taxation, except for assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of $25,000 on the residence and contiguous real property, as defined in s. 6, Art. VII of the State Constitution.
> (2) Every person who qualifies to receive the exemption provided in paragraph (a) is entitled to an additional exemption of up to $25,000 on the assessed valuation greater than $50,000 for all levies other than school district levies. (emphasis supplied)

Proposed Changes

Housing Initiative Provisions

CS/HB 531 expressly recognizes in statute that property constructed pursuant to the federal Housing Initiative on land owned by the federal government is in fact federal government property and exempt from ad valorem taxation.

Specifically, the bill amends s. 196.199(1)(a), F.S., to provide a definition of property of the United States that includes any leasehold interest of and improvements affixed to land owned by the United States, any branch of the United States Armed Forces, or any agency or quasi-governmental agency of the United States, if the leasehold interest and improvements are acquired or constructed and used pursuant to the Housing Initiative.

The bill provides that the term "improvements" includes but is not limited to actual housing units and any facilities that are directly related to such housing units, including any housing maintenance facilities, housing rental and management offices, parks and community centers, and recreational facilities.

The bill further provides that it is not necessary for an application for an exemption to be filed or approved by the property appraiser.

Definition of "Permanent Residence"

The bill also amends the definition of "permanent residence" in s. 196.012(18), F.S., to provide that "[t]he permanent residence of a person incarcerated in a state correctional institution as defined in s. 944.02 or similar institution in another state or a Federal correctional institution is the location of such institution." To establish entitlement to the homestead exemption(s) afforded under Article VII, s. 6 of the Florida Constitution, a person must:

- Have legal or equitable title to real estate; and either
    - Maintain thereon their permanent residence; or
    - Maintain thereon the permanent residence of another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner.

While the change to the definition of "permanent residence" would appear to preclude a person from being eligible for a homestead exemption on his or her property while incarcerated in a state correctional institution as defined in s. 944.02 or similar institution in another state or a Federal correctional institution, it would not preclude eligibility for a homestead exemption if the person's legal or natural dependents maintain their permanent residence thereon.

Effective Date

The bill has an effective date of upon becoming law and provides for retroactive application to January 1, 2007.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1. Amends the definition of "permanent residence" found in s. 196.012(18), F.S.

Section 2. Amends s. 196.199, F.S., relating to government property exemption.

Section 3. Provides an effective date of upon becoming law, and applies it retroactively to January 1, 2007.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

None.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

The Revenue Estimating Conference (REC) estimated that the provisions of the bill related to s. 196.199, F.S., will have no revenue impact on local governments. The REC has not yet estimated the revenue impact of the change to the definition of "permanent residence" contained in the bill, but staff estimates that it will have a positive impact on both school tax revenue and local non-school tax revenue. The magnitude of the positive revenue impact is unknown, but expected to be small.

2. Expenditures:

None.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

Clarifying ad valorem tax exemption eligibility standards for United States property may ensure that military housing developed pursuant to the Housing Initiative will not be subjected to taxation.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not applicable. This bill does not appear to: require counties or municipalities to spend funds or take an action requiring the expenditure of funds; reduce the authority that counties or municipalities have to raise revenues in the aggregate; or reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with counties or municipalities.

2. Other:

Article VII, section 6(a) of the Florida Constitution provides in pertinent part:

> Every person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner, shall be exempt from taxation thereon, except assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of twenty-five thousand dollars and, for all levies other than school district levies, on the assessed valuation greater than fifty thousand dollars and up to seventy-five thousand dollars, upon establishment of right thereto in the manner prescribed by law.

The Florida Supreme Court has held that although the Legislature is permitted to enact laws regulating "the manner" of establishing the right to the constitutional homestead tax exemption, it cannot substantively alter or materially limit the class of individuals entitled to the exemption under the plain language of the constitution.[20] The Court has also held that "[c]ontinuous physical presence without interruption is not required to constitute a homestead for tax exemption purposes. Temporary absence, regardless of the reason for such, from the homestead, will not deprive it of that character, provided an abiding intention to return is always present."[21] In another case, the 2nd District Court of Appeal stated "[o]nce the property has acquired the status of a homestead, this status would continue until an abandonment has occurred which being dependent upon the intent of the claimant, is a question of fact to be determined in each particular case."[22]

The Legislature has in the past established in statute certain circumstances under which abandonment of a homestead is deemed to have occurred. Section 196.061, F.S., provides in pertinent part that "[t]he rental of all or substantially all of a dwelling previously claimed to be a homestead for tax purposes shall constitute the abandonment of such dwelling as a homestead, and the abandonment shall continue until such dwelling is physically occupied by the owner." The First District Court of Appeal recently evaluated the constitutionality of this provision in a case involving a taxpayer who owned a condominium unit and participated in a rental program that rented out units on a short-term or daily basis, based on when the owner was absent from the property. The property appraiser revoked the taxpayer's homestead tax exemption based on the unit's status as rental property under s. 196.061, F.S. The Court held that "[a]rticle VII, section 6, provides that the legislature may establish by law the procedures for claiming the homestead tax exemption. Accordingly, section 196.061 is the legislature's establishment of how rental property is to be treated under the homestead exemption law and is not unconstitutional as applied to Appellees."[23]

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

The bill as currently drafted applies retroactively to January 1, 2007. This could have unintended consequences with respect to the amendment to the definition of "permanent residence" in s. 196.012(18), F.S. For example, s. 196.161(1)(b), F.S., provides in pertinent part:

> [U]pon determination by the property appraiser that for any year or years within the prior 10 years a person who was not entitled to a homestead exemption was granted a homestead exemption from ad valorem taxes, it shall be the duty of the property appraiser making such determination to serve upon the owner a notice of intent to record in the public records of the county a notice of tax lien against any property owned by that person in the county, and such property shall be identified in the notice of tax lien. Such property which is situated in this state shall be subject to the taxes exempted thereby, plus a penalty of 50 percent of the unpaid taxes for each year and 15 percent interest per annum. ...

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On March 8, 2013, the Finance and Tax Subcommittee adopted an amendment that:

- Amends the definition of "permanent residence" in s. 196.012(18), F.S., to provide that "[t]he permanent residence of a person incarcerated in a state correctional institution as defined in s. 944.02 or similar institution in another state or a Federal correctional institution is the location of such institution." This analysis is updated to reflect this change.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Local Initiatives and Referenda on Land Use Changes

In 2006, voters in St. Pete Beach amended the city's charter to require voter referendums on all future changes to comprehensive plans, redevelopment plans, and building height regulations.[1] This process, often called "Hometown Democracy," caused delay in the local development process.[2] In November 2010, Florida voters decided against implementing Hometown Democracy statewide with a 67.1 percent 'no' vote on Amendment 4.[3] Shortly thereafter, in March 2011, voters in St. Pete Beach repealed the town's Hometown Democracy provisions by 54.07 percent.[4]

The 2011 Legislature passed HB 7207, known as the "Community Planning Act." Section 7, amending s. 163.3167, F.S., prohibited local governments from adopting initiative or referendum processes for any development orders, comprehensive plan amendments, or map amendments.[5]

At the time, very few local governments had a land use referendum or initiative process in place.[6] One of these affected governments, The Town of Yankeetown (Yankeetown), had a charter provision which specifically authorized a referendum vote on comprehensive plan amendments affecting more than five parcels of land.[7] Following the enactment of HB 7207 (2011), Yankeetown filed a complaint in the Leon County Circuit Court against the Department of Community Affairs (DCA), now the Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO), stating its desire to maintain its charter provision.[8]

In September 2011, DCA and Yankeetown reached a proposed settlement agreement contingent upon the Legislature passing, and the Governor signing into law, a proposed amendment to the Community Planning Act.[9] The resulting bill, CH/HB 7081 (2012), was designed to allow charter provisions like that of Yankeetown to remain valid. The bill was intended to have a limited impact, protecting only those local government charter provisions that: 1) were in effect as of June 1, 2011, and 2) authorized an initiative or referendum process for development orders, comprehensive plan amendments, or map

[8] Id. The complaint alleged that ch. 2011-139, L.O.F., violated the single subject provision in s. 6, Art. III, State Constitution, and that it was read by a misleading, inaccurate title. Yankeetown also alleged that the law contained unconstitutionally vague terms and contained an unlawful delegation of legislative authority. The city of St. Pete Beach also filed a motion to intervene as a defendant in the case, on the same side as the state.

amendments.[10] The Legislature passed the bill on March 7, 2012, and the Governor signed CS/HB 7081 (2012) into law on April 6, 2012. It was codified in s. 8, ch. 163.3167, F.S.

CS/HB 7081 (2012) left open the possibility for an interpretation that allowed all referendum or initiative provisions in effect as of June 1, 2011, not merely those specifically for development orders, comprehensive plan amendments, or map amendments.

In October 2012, the Palm Beach County Circuit Court ruled that CS/HB 7081 (2012) extended the exception to all local government general referendum or initiative charter provisions in effect as of June 1, 2011.[11] The court held that such a general provision encompassed specific land amendments, such as development orders and comprehensive map amendments, despite the charter language not specifically authorizing either. This broad interpretation is contrary to the intent of the 2011 and 2012 legislation, which sought to restrict these voting mechanisms.

Effect of Proposed Changes

CS/HB 537 seeks to narrow the current interpretation of s. 163.3167(8), F.S., while preserving the purpose of the 2011 Community Planning Act.

With one exception, CS/HB 537 prohibits initiative or referendum processes for any development order, local comprehensive plan amendments, or map amendments. However, if the local government charter (1) specifically authorizes and (2) was lawful and in effect June 1, 2011, then such processes are allowed for (1) local comprehensive plan amendments or (2) map amendments affecting more than five parcels of land. Provisions in regard to development orders are not included in the exception and are always prohibited.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends s. 163.3167(8), F.S., to clarify that initiative and referendum processes for development orders are prohibited. Amends s. 163.3167(8), F.S., to limit the use of initiative or referendum processes for comprehensive plan and map amendments to specified local governments. Provides legislative intent.

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On March 6th, 2013, the House Economic Development and Tourism Subcommittee adopted a strike-all amendment and passed the bill as a CS. The CS differs from the original bill as follows:

- Reorganizes s. 163.3167(8), F.S., into three sub-sub-sections.

[12] Financial Information Statement: Referenda Required for Adoption and Amendment of Local Government Comprehensive Land Use Plans, #05-18. Office of Economic & Demographic Research. Retrieved from: http://edr.state.fl.us/Content/constitutional-amendments/2010Ballot/LandUse/LandUseInformationStatement.cfm (2/26/13).

- Removes language that provides for initiative or referendum process regarding any development order, local comprehensive plan amendment, or map amendment commenced or completed after June 1, 2011 is void.

- Adds clarification that a general initiative or referendum process is not sufficient to meet exception intended for specifically authorized initiative or referendum processes for comprehensive plan and map amendments in effect as of June 1, 2011.

- Sub-sub-section (c) adds legislative intent, clarifying the legislature's intention for the application of sub-sub-sections (a) and (b) and for s. 163.3167(8), F.S., to apply retroactively as of June 2, 2011.

On March 14, 2013, the House Local and Federal Affairs Committee adopted a technical amendment and passed the bill as amended.

This analysis has been updated to reflect the amendments adopted by the Economic Development & Tourism Subcommittee and the Local and Federal Affairs Committee.

A bill to be entitled

An act relating to growth management; amending s. 163.3167, F.S.; providing that an initiative or referendum process for any development order is prohibited; providing that an initiative or referendum process for any local comprehensive plan amendments and map amendments is prohibited; providing an exception for an initiative or referendum process specifically authorized by local government charter provision in effect as of June 1, 2011, for certain local comprehensive plan amendments and map amendments; providing that certain charter provisions for an initiative or referendum process are not sufficient; providing legislative intent; providing that certain prohibitions apply retroactively; providing an effective date.

Be It Enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

Section 1. Subsection (8) of section 163.3167, Florida Statutes, is amended to read:

163.3167 Scope of act.—

(8)(a) An initiative or referendum process in regard to any development order ~~or in regard to any local comprehensive plan amendment or map amendment~~ is prohibited. ~~However, any local government charter provision that was in effect as of June 1, 2011, for an initiative or referendum process in regard to development orders or in regard to local comprehensive plan~~

~~amendments or map amendments may be retained and implemented.~~

(b) An initiative or referendum process in regard to any local comprehensive plan amendment or map amendment is prohibited. However, an initiative or referendum process in regard to any local comprehensive plan amendment or map amendment is allowed if it affects more than five parcels of land and is expressly authorized by specific language in a local government charter that was lawful and in effect on June 1, 2011; a general local government charter provision for an initiative or referendum process is not sufficient.

(c) It is the intent of the Legislature that initiative and referendum be prohibited in regard to any development order. It is the intent of the Legislature that initiative and referendum be prohibited in regard to any local comprehensive plan amendment or map amendment, except as specifically and narrowly permitted in paragraph (b) with regard to local comprehensive plan amendments that affect more than five parcels of land or map amendments that affect more than five parcels of land. Therefore, the prohibition on initiative and referendum stated in paragraphs (a) and (b) is remedial in nature and applies retroactively to any initiative or referendum process commenced after June 1, 2011, and any such initiative or referendum process that has been commenced or completed thereafter is hereby deemed null and void and of no legal force and effect.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon becoming a law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

Tourist Development Tax

Section 125.0104, F.S., authorizes five separate tourist development taxes on transient rental transactions. Depending on a county's eligibility to levy, the tax rate varies from a minimum of 3 percent to a maximum of 6 percent. The levies may be authorized by vote of the county's governing authority or referendum approval. The revenues generated by the tax may be used in various ways to promote tourism, including capital construction of tourism-related facilities. The authorized uses of each local option tax vary according to the particular levy.

The tourist development tax may be levied at the rate of 1 or 2 percent. All 67 counties are eligible to levy this tax, and currently 62 levy this tax – all at 2 percent. Calhoun, Hardee, Lafayette, Liberty and Union counties do not levy any tourist development taxes. Revenue from this tax may be bonded to finance certain facilities and projects, including financing revenue bonds. This tax may only be levied after the ordinance is approved by a majority of voters in a referendum.

An additional tourist development tax of 1 percent may be levied by counties who have previously levied a tourist development tax at the 1 or 2 percent rate for at least 3 years. Currently 45 counties levy this tax. Revenue from this tax may be bonded to finance certain facilities and projects, but may not be used to service debt or refinance facilities receiving funding from a previously levied tourist development tax unless approved by an extraordinary vote of the governing board. This tax may only be levied after the ordinance is approved by a majority of voters in a referendum.

A professional sports franchise facility tax may be levied up to an additional 1 percent. Currently 36 counties levy this additional tax, and all 67 counties are eligible to levy this tax. Revenue can be used to pay debt service on bonds for the construction or renovation of professional sports franchise facilities, spring training facilities of professional sports franchises, and convention centers and to promote and advertise tourism.

An additional professional sports franchise facility tax no greater than 1 percent may be imposed by a county that has already levied the professional sports franchise facility tax. Out of 36 counties that levy a professional sports facility tax, 20 levy an additional professional sports franchise facility tax. Revenue can be used to pay debt service on bonds for the construction or renovation of professional sports franchise facilities, spring training facilities of professional sports franchises, and convention centers and to promote and advertise tourism.

A high tourism impact tax may be levied at an additional 1 percent. Five counties are eligible to levy this tax (Broward, Monroe, Orange, Osceola, and Walton). Of these five counties, Monroe, Orange, and Osceola levy this additional tax. Revenue from this tax may be bonded to finance certain facilities and projects, including financing revenue bonds.

Local option tourist taxes are significant revenue sources to Florida's county governments and represent important funding mechanisms for a variety of tourism-related expenditures such as beach and shoreline maintenance, construction of convention centers and professional sports franchise facilities, and tourism promotion. Generally, the revenues from these levies may be used for capital construction, maintenance, and promotion of tourist-related facilities, tourism promotion, and beach and shoreline maintenance. Tourist-related facilities include convention centers, sports stadiums and arenas, coliseums, zoos, auditoriums, aquariums and museums that are publically owned and operated within the area that the tax is levied. Museums and zoos that are operated by not-for-profit organizations may also receive funding.

Florida Aquariums

Visit Florida's website[1] lists over 25 attractions in the category of "aquarium," including the Key West Aquarium, the Miami Seaquarium, the Mote Marine Laboratory and Aquarium in Sarasota, the Florida Aquarium in Tampa, and the Florida's Gulfarium in Fort Walton Beach.

Proposed Changes

The bill adds aquariums owned and operated by not-for-profit organizations to the permissible uses of the tourist development tax[2], allowing counties to use revenue from that tax for purposes related to aquariums owned and operated by not-for-profit organizations, including the acquisition, construction, maintenance, or promotion of such aquariums.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends s. 125.0104, F.S., to include aquariums owned by not-for-profit organizations as an eligible use of the tourism development tax.

Section 2: Provides an effective date of July 1, 2013.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

History of Poet Laureates

The title of poet laureate is derived from the laurels with which the ancient Greeks traditionally crowned their most celebrated poets.[1] The title was not designated on a continuous basis until 1688 when the position of Poet Laureate was created within the English Crown.[2] In the United States, poet laureates participate in ceremonial events and seek to raise a greater appreciation of the reading and writing of poetry. California became the first state to designate a poet laureate in 1919.[3] The first official Poet Laureate of the United States was appointed by the Librarian of Congress in 1937.[4]

State Poet Laureates

Currently, 44 states designate a state poet laureate or an equivalent position.[5] However, not all states designate the position in statutory law. Duties of such poets laureate vary, but all involve the promotion of reading, writing, and poetry appreciation.[6] Whether the poet laureate receives compensation or holds a term-limited or lifetime appointment also varies from state to state.[7]

Florida's Poet Laureate

In 1928, the position of Poet Laureate of the State of Florida was established by governor's proclamation.[8] The position is a lifetime appointment and occupants serve without compensation. A total of three poet laureates have been appointed since the inception of the position.[9] The most recent occupant, Edmund Skellings of West Melbourne, passed away on August 19, 2012.[10] Current statutory law does not contain provisions relating to a state poet laureate.

Department of State

The Department of State is responsible for corporate filings and certain public records. The Department also oversees of the election process and preserves Florida's historical and cultural heritage for the benefit of future generations. The Division of Cultural Affairs, housed within Department of State, is Florida's legislatively-designated state arts agency. The Division connects cultural funding opportunities and services to Florida's citizens and visitors.

Florida Council on Arts and Culture[11]

The Florida Council on Arts and Culture is a 12 member advisory body within the Department of State. The Council promotes Florida's cultural heritage, fosters the study and presentation of art and culture, and encourages public participation in cultural activities. Further, the Council advises the Secretary of State in matters pertaining to programs and grants administered by the Division of Cultural Affairs. The

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Economic Gardening

Economic gardening is a long-term, economic development strategy designed to grow jobs by encouraging entrepreneurial activity in a community, region, or state. In contrast to traditional "economic hunting" strategies aimed at recruiting businesses from outside the community, economic gardening focuses on the job creation potential of small local businesses that already exist in the community. According to an expert in the implementation of economic gardening, "economic gardening is not a quick fix – it is not a silver bullet. It is a long term strategy. It is not a fad diet; it is a lifestyle change. It takes a while to put the infrastructure in place and to get to a scale large enough to make a difference. It also takes a while for a company to start to grow and add jobs. However, with patience and commitment it has proven to be a viable alternative to the traditional practices of economic development."[1]

The concept of economic gardening was pioneered in 1987 by the City of Littleton, Colorado, during a statewide recession. It is based on research by M.I.T. and Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City economists, which shows that the vast majority of new jobs in a local economy are produced by the community's small local businesses, specifically a small group of high-growth businesses called "gazelles," which are second stage businesses employing between ten and 99 employees.[2] These second stage businesses usually generate between $1 million and $50 million in annual revenue, depending on the industry. Second stage companies are significant job creators and often have global or national markets, meaning these businesses bring outside dollars into the community. At this stage of the business cycle, businesses are focused on developing new markets, refining business models, and accessing competitive intelligence.[3]

Economic gardening focuses on three main elements:[4]

- Information: The survival and growth of small businesses depends on access to critical information. Access to free or affordable information and consulting services is thus extremely valuable. Programs can provide access to information on markets, customers, and competitors, such as business databases, GIS (geographic information system), and search engine marketing.
- Infrastructure: This element focuses on building and supporting the development of community assets essential to commerce and overall quality of life. In addition to basic physical infrastructure, this element includes quality of life infrastructure (e.g., parks, open spaces, and historical preservation) and intellectual infrastructure that provide educational opportunities to help keep companies competitive.
- Connections: Entrepreneurs benefit significantly from interaction and exchange among business owners and resource providers, such as trade associations, think tanks, and academic institutions. Examples of strategies that improve connectivity include business roundtables, peer-to-peer learning sessions, and mentoring programs that partner new business owners with accomplished businesses in their industry.

Florida's Economic Gardening Initiatives

In 2009, the Legislature created a two-pronged economic gardening initiative.[5] The first component is the Economic Gardening Business Loan Pilot Program[6] which provides low-interest short-term loans to eligible businesses to assist them with their infrastructure, networking, and mentoring needs. For eligibility in the loan program, businesses must meet the following criteria:[7]

- It must be a for-profit, privately held, investment-grade business that employs between 10 and 50 persons.
- The business has been in existence in Florida for a period of at least two years.
- The business generates between $1 million and $25 million in annual revenue.
- The business is eligible for the Qualified Targeted Industry (QTI) tax refund program pursuant to s. 288.106, F.S. A key requirement of the QTI program is that businesses must pay an annual average wage of at least 115 percent of the average private sector wage in the area where the business is located or the statewide private sector average wage.[8]
- During three of the last five years, the company has experienced steady growth in its gross revenues and employment.

The second component of the economic gardening initiative is the Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Pilot Program,[9] the purpose of which is to stimulate investment in the state's economy by providing technical assistance for eligible businesses. The eligibility requirements for a business seeking technical assistance are the same as those under the Economic Gardening Business Loan Pilot Program.[10]

The Department of Economic Opportunity (DEO) is directed to select by competitive bid a third-party contractor to implement the pilot program. Selection criteria for the contractor must include the ability to implement such a program on a statewide basis; the capability to provide counseling services, access to technology and information, marketing services and advice, business management support, and similar services; and whether the contractor qualifies for matching funds to provide the technical assistance.[11] The law also authorizes the third-party contractor to promote the general business or industrial interests of the state.[12]

Twice a year, DEO must review the third-party contractor's progress and determine if it is meeting its contractual requirements. If not, DEO may terminate the contract and re-bid.[13]

The technical assistance provided by the pilot program, includes, but is not limited to:[14]

- Access to free or affordable information and consulting services, including information on markets, customers, and competitors, such as databases, geographic information systems, and search engine marketing.

- Development of business connections, including interaction and exchange between business owners and resource providers, which may include trade associations, academic institutions, business roundtables, peer-to-peer learning sessions, and mentoring programs.

The third-party contractor is directed to select eligible businesses in more than one industry cluster and, where possible, in different regions of the state.[15] Any business receiving the technical assistance must sign an agreement with the third-party contractor committing to the following minimum conditions, on a basis determined by the contractor:[16]

- Attending a minimum number of meetings with the third-party contractor.
- Reporting job-creation data.
- Providing financial data.

DEO is required to, by December 31, submit to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House and the Governor an annual report detailing the progress of the technical assistance pilot program. This annual report must, at a minimum, include the number of businesses receiving assistance, the type and location of businesses assisted, and the number and wages of jobs created as a result of the business assistance provided, if any.[17]

University of Central Florida – Economic Gardening Institute (GrowFL)

In 2009, the Executive Office of the Governor's Office of Tourism, Trade, and Economic Development[18] contracted with the University of Central Florida (UCF) to implement the Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Pilot Program. UCF then established the Florida Economic Gardening Institute (GrowFL) in 2009.

The GrowFL Program has provided services for second stage companies, which include, but are not limited to economic gardening technical assistance, CEO Roundtables, CEO Forums, human resource webinars, workshops, and the "Florida Companies to Watch" recognition event. These activities are targeted to support the second stage CEOs with operational and revenue-increasing strategies to improve business performance. Technical assistance was delivered through a centrally managed technical assistance team with access to various market research databases and tools to facilitate strategy, market research, web strategy and search engine optimization. A typical technical assistance consultation was 40 hours and was provided at no charge to the client. Work was handled virtually with clients via conference calls and the use of an on-line collaboration system.[19]

Overall GrowFL Program Performance as of December 31, 2012[20]

- 606 Strategic Research/Technical Assistance Engagements for 506 Companies
- 17 CEO Roundtable Groups established throughout Florida
- Numerous special events Including CEO Forums, Webinars, and Kauffman Workshops
- Held two Florida Companies to Watch events over the last two years and recognized 100 companies– averaged 450 attendees

Department of Economic Opportunity - Mid-Year Program Report

In December 2012, DEO submitted a Mid-Year Program Report to the Legislature and the Governor to which covers the period of July 1, 2012 through October 31, 2012. The report provided the following information:[21]

> Since July 1, 2012, 99 second stage companies submitted applications to receive technical assistance. A total of 90 companies within 19 counties were accepted, and applications from nine companies were being processed. The industries represented are classified by North American Industry Classification System as follows:

NAICS Description	NAICS Code	Number of Companies
Administrative and Support Services	56	3
Finance and Insurance Services	52	5
Information Industries	51	8
Management of Companies	55	4

Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability - Evaluation of the Florida Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Pilot Program

In 2009, the Legislature directed the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA), by December 31, 2012, to review the technical assistance pilot program and its effectiveness in expanding targeted businesses, and provide a report to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Governor.[22] In December 2012, OPPAGA published its report which in summary stated:[23]

- GrowFL experienced several implementation obstacles, including difficulty attracting participants and assessing companies' eligibility. Consequently, the program served a significant number of ineligible companies and was unable to determine eligibility for many others.
- Our analysis found that companies that received multiple services were more likely to grow after pilot program participation, and most of our survey respondents found GrowFL services helpful. We also found that eligible companies were more likely to increase employees and wages than those that did not meet the program's statutory eligibility requirements. In addition, our statistical modeling showed that eligible program participants had greater than predicted employment growth in one of three quarters in 2011, with no statistically significant difference in the other two quarters.
- During the course of our review, GrowFL took several steps to address our concerns about program implementation and eligibility determination. However, we recommend that future contracts with the Economic Gardening Institute include additional provisions to improve program reporting and assessment.

Economic Gardening Funding History

In 2009, the Legislature appropriated up to $1.5 million to implement the Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Pilot Program during FY 2009-2010.[24] In 2010, the Legislature appropriated $2 million for FY 2010-2011.

In 2011, the Legislature also appropriated $2 million for FY 2011-2012, however, the Governor vetoed the appropriation.[25] In 2012, the Legislature appropriated $2 million from the State Economic Enhancement and Development Trust Fund for the Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Program for FY 2012-2013.[26]

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill removes the word "pilot" from the title of the "Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Pilot Program," effectively making the Technical Assistance Program permanent, rather than temporary. The Department of Economic Opportunity is directed to contract with the University of Central Florida's Institute of Economic Gardening to implement the Economic Gardening Technical Assistance Program (Technical Assistance Program). The Economic Gardening Business Loan Pilot Program remains a temporary program.

As required in current law, to be eligible to participate in the Technical Assistance Program a business must be a for-profit, privately held, investment-grade business. The bill modifies other eligibility requirements as follows:

- The business must have employed at least 10 persons but no more than 99 persons at the end of the preceding fiscal year. Current law caps the number of employees at 50 persons. The bill removes the requirement that the business has maintained its principal place of business in state for at least the previous two years.
- The business must have generated at least $1 million but not more than $50 million in annual revenue during the preceding fiscal year. Current law caps the generated amount of revenue at $25 million. The bill removes the requirement that the business qualifies for a tax refund for qualified target industry businesses under s. 288.106, F.S.
- During 2, rather than 3, of the previous 5, rather than 6, years the business must have increased either its number of full-time equivalent employees in Florida or its gross revenue. Current law requires ta business to have increased both its number of full-time equivalent employees in this state and its gross revenue.

An additional eligibility requirement is added to require that a business generate a minimum of 51 percent of its revenue outside Florida, be located in a rural community as defined in s. 288.0656, F.S., or be classified within a qualifying NAICS code.

The bill defines NAICS as those classifications contained in the North American Industry Classification System, as published in 2012 by the Office of Management and Budget, Executive Office of the President. The term "qualifying NAICS code" means any NAICS code within any of the following NAICS sectors:

- 31-33, Manufacturing;
- 42, Wholesale Trade;
- 51, Information;
- 52, Finance and Insurance;
- 54, Professional, Scientific, and Technical Services;

- 55, Management of Companies and Enterprises; or
- 56, Administrative and Support and Waste Management and Remediation Services.

According to GrowFL, the industries identified as a qualified target industry under s. 288.106, F.S., are captured under the NAICS codes listed above.[27]

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

House Bill 705 amends s. 288.9625, F.S. to include innovation businesses among the entities eligible to receive assistance from the Florida Institute for the Commercialization of Public Research (Institute). The bill also grants the Institute the ability to create corporate subsidiaries, and, as long as it does not interfere with its core mission, may charge for services provided to private companies and affiliated organizations whose products are developed by the research and development activities of a publicly supported college, university, or research institute.

The bill also creates s. 288.96255, F.S. which would establish the Florida Technology Seed Capital Fund (Fund) as a corporate subsidiary of the Institute. The Fund will be administered by the Institute for the purpose of fostering greater private-sector investment funding, encouraging seed-stage investments in start-up companies, and advising companies how to restructure existing management, operations, or production in order to attract advantageous business opportunities.

This bill has no fiscal impact on state funds.

The effective date of this bill is July 1, 2013.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

The Florida Institute for the Commercialization of Public Research was created by the Legislature in 2007[1] as a non-profit organization tasked with working collaboratively with the technology licensing and commercialization offices of Florida's publicly supported universities and research institutions. It focuses on assisting in the creation of investable companies that in turn create jobs in innovation industries within the state. The Institute's mission is economic development through the commercialization of new discoveries generated from publicly funded research. The Institute supports new company formation and growth activities that result in increased job creation, capital investment, and revenue generation.

Florida universities and research institutions are conducting ground-breaking research and discovery that spurs the creation of new products and companies. With a research base of over $2 billion, the Institute plays a critical role in helping to uncover the most commercially-viable opportunities, and then supporting them with hands-on services and funding to increase their likelihood of success. Competing with 38 states that have similar initiatives, Institute programs enhance Florida's entrepreneurship and innovation ecosystem at the early stages, with assisted companies growing and creating high-wage, high-skill jobs thereby strengthening Florida's economy and competitive position worldwide.[2]

Presently, the Institute operates two seed funding programs: the Seed Capital Accelerator Program and the Florida Research Commercialization Matching Grant Program. The purpose of each is to attract capital investment into Florida-based startup companies, to foster effective management, growth, capitalization, technology protection, or marketing and business success.

Seed Capital Accelerator Program

In 2010 the Legislature appropriated $10 million for the deployment of the Institute's Seed Capital Accelerator Program which provides loans ranging from $50,000 to $300,000 to qualified startup companies. These qualified companies are required to raise private, approved, matching funds thereby leveraging the state's investment and inducing additional private capital into Florida-based companies. The Institute notes that, to date, it has received over 80 applications for funding and committed $6 million to 20 different companies. Of this, $3.6 million has been dispersed to 12 companies who have directly created 75 jobs averaging $74,000 in salary while raising $12 million in private funds. The Institute expects the balance of the funding to be committed by the end of FY 2013 with projections of over 5,000 jobs to be created within the next 5-10 years.

Florida Research Commercialization Matching Grant Program

This program was created to match Federal Phase I and Phase II Small Business Innovation Research and Small Business Technology Transfer awards, both administered by U.S. Small Business Administration. The Institute developed and launched the program early in 2011, awarding nearly $2.8 million to 13 companies statewide. Grantees have leveraged state funds to apply for and win additional federal grants and contracts, create direct high-wage, high skill jobs within their organizations, and engage local contractors to support development and manufacturing activities. All available funds in this program have been disbursed by the Institute resulting in 47 direct new jobs average $60,000 in salary in addition to 9 new contracting positions. In addition, Federal grants awarded these companies over $7 million.[3]

Effect of Proposed Changes

Expanded Purpose of the Florida Institute for the Commercialization of Public Research

The bill changes the purpose of the Institute to include assisting in the commercialization of products developed by the research and development activities of innovation businesses. The Institute may:

- Create corporate subsidiaries.
- Develop or accrue ownership, royalty, patent, or other rights over or interest in companies or products in connection with financing provided directly to client companies.
- Deliver and charge for services to private companies and affiliated organizations so long as doing so does not interfere with the core mission of the Institute.
- Not use its capital in support of private companies or affiliated organizations whose products were not developed by research and development activities of a publicly supported college, university, or research institute, or any other organization.

Florida Technology Seed Capital Fund

The Institute is directed to create the Florida Technology Seed Capital Fund as a corporate subsidiary. The purpose of the Fund is to foster greater private-sector investment funding, encourage seed-state investments in start-up companies, and advise companies on the restructuring of existing management, operations, or production in order to attract greater business opportunities.

The bill directs the Institute to establish an advisory board consisting of venture capitalists and early-stage investors who will advise and guide the fund in addition to making funding recommendations. The administration of the Fund will be the responsibility of the Institute. Administrative fees associated with the Fund will be determined by the advisory board. The state will annually evaluate the activities and results of the funding.

The bill requires the Institute to use a thorough and detailed process modeled after the best practices of the investment industry to evaluate each proposal. To approve a company for investment, the Institute must consider if:

- The company has a strong intellectual property position, capable management team, readily identifiable paths to market or commercialization, significant job-growth potential, the ability to provide other sources of capital to leverage the state's investment, and the potential to attract additional funding.
- The company has been identified by a publicly funded research institution.
- The company operates in a targeted industry.[4]
- The company has been identified by an approved private-sector lead investor who has demonstrated due diligence typical of start-up investments in evaluating the potential of the company.
- The advisory board and fund manager have reviewed the company's proposal and recommend it.

The Fund may make an investment if a company is approved for funding by the Institute and:

---

[3] Ibid, 5

[4] Section 288.106(2)(q), F.S.

- The individual investment range is between $50,000 and $300,000.
- The total invested in a single company does not exceed $500,000.
- There is a one-to-one match of private-sector investment for seed fund investments up to $300,000.
- There is a two-to-one match of private sector investment for seed fund investments over $300,000.

In addition, the Institute may:

- Provide a company with value-added support services in the areas of business plan development and strategy, the preparation of investor presentations, and other critical areas identified by the Institute to increase its chances for long-term viability and success.
- Encourage appropriate investment funds to become preapproved to match investment funds.
- Market the attractiveness of the state as an early-stage investment location.
- Collaborate with state economic development organizations, national associations of seed and angel funds, and other innovation-based associations to create an enhanced state entrepreneurial ecosystem.

The Institute is required to annually evaluate the activities and results of the funding, taking into consideration that seed investment horizons span anywhere from 3 to 7 years.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends subsections (2), (9), (10), and paragraph (a) of subsection (11) of section 288.9625, F.S. to expand the scope of services offered by the Florida Institute for the Commercialization of Public Research.

Section 2: Creates section 288.96255, F.S. to establish the Florida Technology Seed Capital Fund as a corporate subsidiary of the Institute.

Section 3: Provides an effective date of July 1, 2013.

IV. AMENDMENTS/ COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

- Remove the provision requiring the Florida Technology Seed Capital Fund to consist of $50 million.
- Remove language setting a cap of 5% on administrative costs associated with funds appropriated to the Fund as none have been appropriated, and replace with language allowing the advisory board to determine administrative costs paid out of the Fund.
- Clarify that the definition of target industry, as used in this bill, has previously been defined in statute.
- Address potentially confusing language in the bill related to individual company investment caps.

(a) Provide a company with value-added support services in the areas of business plan development and strategy, the preparation of investor presentations, and other critical areas identified by the institute to increase its chances for long-term viability and success.

(b) Encourage appropriate investment funds to become preapproved to match investment funds;

(c) Market the attractiveness of the state as an early-stage investment location; and

(d) Collaborate with state economic-development organizations, national associations of seed and angel funds, and other innovation-based associations to create an enhanced state entrepreneurial ecosystem.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The South Indian River Water Control District manages drainage systems and road maintenance in specified areas of Palm Beach County. This bill authorizes the Board of Supervisors of the South Indian River Water Control District to construct improvements upon real and personal property for recreational purposes on specified land within the District.

A water control district is a water management or drainage district created by a special act (or, formerly, by circuit court degree). Each district is governed by a board of supervisors, tasked with carrying out their district's water control plan. A water control plan is a comprehensive document that describes the operations and water management improvements of the district as authorized by law. Chapter 298, F.S., enumerates the powers of water control districts' board of supervisors. These powers include the authority to build and construct any improvements necessary to execute the water control plan.

No fiscal impacts are anticipated according to the Economic Impact Statement.

This bill has an effective date of upon becoming law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

History of Water Control Districts

Water control districts have a long history in Florida. As early as the 1830s, the Legislature passed a special act authorizing landowners to construct drainage ditches across adjacent lands to discharge excess water. Following the passage of several special acts creating drainage districts, the Legislature passed the state's first general drainage law, the General Drainage Act of 1913, to establish one procedure for creating drainage districts – through circuit court decree – and to provide general law provisions governing the operation of these districts.

Between 1913 and 1972, the General Drainage Act remained virtually unchanged. In 1972 and 1979, the Legislature amended the act to change the name of these districts to water management districts and then to water control districts. In neither year did the Legislature enact a major reform of the act, although the 1979 act did repeal provisions authorizing the creation of water control districts by circuit court decree.

Today, ch. 298, F.S., contains provisions governing drainage and water control, including the creation and operation of water control districts and the powers of their boards of supervisors.

Powers of Board of Supervisors

Section 298.22, F.S., grants the board full authority to construct, complete, operate, maintain, repair, and replace any and all works and improvements necessary to execute the water control plan. This section enumerates certain related powers held by the board of supervisors, including in s. 298.22(a), F.S., the authority to build and construct works and improvements needed to preserve and maintain the works in or out of the district.

Limitation on Special or Local Legislation

Section 298.76, F.S., provides that there shall be no special law or general law of local application granting additional authority, powers, rights, or privileges to any water control district formed pursuant to ch. 298, F.S., with certain enumerated exceptions not relevant here.

South Indian River Water Control District

Chapter 2001-213, L.O.F., provides the charter for the South Indian River Water Control District. As per s. 12 of s. 3 of ch. 2001-313, L.O.F., as amended by ch. 2003-332, L.O.F., the Board of Supervisors of the South Indian River Water Control District is authorized, among other things, to hold, control, acquire by donation or purchase, and maintain real and personal property for recreational purposes on specified land within the District. However, the charter does not specifically grant the authority to construct improvements upon such property.

Effect of Proposed Changes

This bill amends the charter of the South Indian River Water Control District, ch. 2001-313, L.O.F., specifically authorizing the Board of Supervisors of the South Indian River Water Control District to construct improvements upon the real and personal property held, controlled, and maintained for recreational purposes on specified land within the District.

Section 298.22, F.S., grants the board of supervisors of the district full power and authority to construct, complete, operate, maintain, repair, and replace any works or improvements necessary. According to

s. 298.22(3), F.S., this authority includes any improvements needed to preserve and maintain the works in or out of the district. Thus, this bill does not violate s. 298.76, F.S., which prohibits granting any water control district additional authority, power, rights, or privileges by either special law or general law of local application. This bill does not grant an additional authority. Therefore, the proposed charter amendment authorizing the board to construct improvements upon real and personal property conforms with general law.

BILL #: HB 921 Tax Exemptions for Property Used for Affordable Housing
SPONSOR(S): Renuart

2) Finance & Tax Subcommittee	17 Y, 0 N	Aldridge	Langston
3) Economic Affairs Committee		Duncan	Creamer

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

The bill removes the provision authorizing the affordable housing property exemption to apply to affordable housing owned by a Florida-based limited partnership whose sole general partner is a not for profit corporation qualified as charitable under the Internal Revenue Code. The bill also makes technical corrections to the amended provision.

The Revenue Estimating Conference estimated the provisions of the bill will have a positive impact on local government revenue in FY 2013-14 of $23.4 million ($117.2 million recurring).

The bill is effective upon becoming a law and the removal of the exemption applies to the 2013 ad valorem tax rolls.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

In 1999,[1] the Legislature authorized property owned entirely by a not for profit corporation, used to provide affordable housing through any state housing program under ch. 420, F.S., and serving low-income and very-low-income persons, to be considered property as owned by an exempt entity used for charitable purpose and therefore to be exempt from ad valorem taxation. The not for profit corporation must qualify as charitable under s. 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code and other federal regulations.

In 2009,[2] and later reenacted in 2011,[3] the Legislature expanded the affordable housing property exemption to include property owned entirely by a Florida-based limited partnership whose sole general partner is a not for profit corporation qualified as charitable under s. 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Any property owned by a limited partnership which is disregarded as an entity for federal income tax purposes is treated as if owned by its sole general partner.

The unintended effect of the expanded provision is that an affordable housing (i.e., low income housing tax credit) development with a nonprofit general partner can claim a tax exemption even though the limited partnership that owns the property is a for-profit corporation. While the provision may be beneficial to non-profit developments, the provision may also be misused if a for-profit developer uses a compliant non-profit, which has no significant role in the development's construction or operations, to gain the tax exemption.

Effect of Proposed Changes

The bill removes the provision authorizing the affordable housing property exemption to apply to affordable housing owned by a Florida-based limited partnership whose sole general partner is a not for profit corporation. The bill also makes technical corrections to the amended provision. The removal of such authority is effective upon becoming a law and applies to the 2013 ad valorem tax rolls.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends s. 196.1978, F.S., relating to the affordable housing property exemption, to remove the application of the exemption to property owned by a Florida-based limited partnership whose sole general partner is a not for profit corporation; and to make technical corrections.

Section 2: Provides that the act becomes effective upon becoming a law and must apply first to the 2013 ad valorem tax rolls.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

Current law permits a governing board of a county that levies a tourist development tax to appoint an advisory council composed of nine members. Two members of the advisory council are required to be elected municipal officials, with at least one official from the most populous municipality in the county.

The bill revises the composition of the Lee County Tourist Development Council (Council), and may provide an exemption from general law. Specifically, the bill modifies the requirements for the two seats on the Council that are filled by elected municipal officials. The bill requires the first seat to rotate biennially between elected officials from the two municipalities that generate the highest and second highest revenue from the tourist development tax. The second seat rotates biennially between elected officials from the remaining municipalities within the county. The bill does not affect the other seven seats on the Council.

No fiscal impacts are anticipated according to the Economic Impact Statement.

The bill provides an effective date of upon becoming a law.

According to House Rule 5.5(b), a local bill providing an exemption from general law may not be placed on the Special Order Calendar for expedited consideration. The provisions of House Rule 5.5(b) may apply to this bill.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Tourist Development Councils

Current law permits a county that levies a tourist development tax (TDT) to create, by ordinance, an advisory council for the purpose of reviewing the use of revenues generated by such tax.[1] The council must meet at least quarterly to perform the duties required by the county ordinance, including making recommendations to the county as to the

- efficient operation of special projects;
- use of the tourist development tax revenue; and
- expenditures the council may deem unauthorized.[2]

Florida law also requires the county governing board to implement proper administrative and judicial measures to comply with the tourist development tax statute.[3] Lee County established the Lee County Tourist Development Council by an ordinance adopted pursuant to the Legislature's grant of power in s. 125.0104, F.S.[4]

Council Membership Requirements

Section 125.0104(4)(e), F.S., provides that council members are appointed by the governing board of the county and serve staggered terms of four years. Council structure is as follows:

- The chair of the county governing board shall serve as chair of the council or appoint a member of the county governing board as council chair.
- Two council members must be elected municipal officials, at least one of whom must be from the most populous city in the county or special taxing district in which the tourist development tax is levied.
- Six council members must be persons involved in the tourist industry with an interest in tourist development, of which three to four members must be owners or operators of tourist accommodations in the county and subject to the tax.

Lee County Tourist Development Council

The City of Cape Coral currently holds the member seat reserved for an elected municipal official from the most populous city in Lee County. Current practice rotates the second seat among the elected officials from Bonita Springs, Fort Myers, Fort Myers Beach, and Sanibel. According to the office of the clerk, Fort Myers Beach and Sanibel generated the highest revenue from the TDT during the last two fiscal years.[5]

Effect of Proposed Change

The bill provides an exception for Lee County related to the membership requirements of a tourist development council under s. 125.0104(4)(e), F.S. Current provisions require two elected municipal officials to serve on the council, with at least one such official from the most populous city in the county.

This bill will allow the Board of County Commissioners to appoint one elected municipal official to the Lee County Tourist Development Council based on the tourist development tax revenue generated by municipal governments. The bill will also allow Lee County to rotate the Council's two elected municipal officials on a two year cycle.

First Seat

The bill provides that one of the elected municipal officials must be appointed from among the two municipalities generating the highest TDT revenue. The bill provides that the prior two fiscal years shall be used to determine which municipalities were the highest generators of this tax. Every two years, this seat is rotated between the highest and second highest tax generating municipalities. Currently, the City of Cape Coral holds this first seat by virtue of being the most populous city in Lee County.[6] The bill will permit officials from the two cities with the highest TDT revenue to rotate within this seat, perhaps to the exclusion of Cape Coral.

Second Seat

The bill codifies into law what is the current practice for appointing the second elected municipal official to the Council. The bill provides this official will be appointed from among the municipalities not designated as the two highest TDT generators. This seat would rotate between the municipalities every two years. Currently, the four cities who are not selected to sit on the first seat, namely Sanibel, Fort Myers, Fort Myers Beach and Bonita Springs must share this second seat by a two-year rotation. This procedure is not currently expressed in s. 125.0104(4)(e), F.S., or the implementing ordinance.[7]

Securing the Terms of Other Council Members

The bill provides that it does not interrupt the current terms of any Council members who are not in the seats reserved for the two elected municipal officials.

Limiting the Exception Created by the Bill

The bill states that unless the bill itself provides otherwise, s. 125.0104, F.S., applies to the Council. Therefore, provisions relating to the other seven members of the Council remain unchanged. The duties of the Council would also remain unchanged.

The bill provides an effective date of upon becoming a law.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Creates an exception to general law that would change the appointment of two seats on the Lee County Tourist Development Council.

SUMMARY ANALYSIS

This bill removes the requirement that the Tampa Port Authority approve any expenditure over $15,000 made by the port director, allowing the port authority to establish port director spending policies.

The Port of Tampa is Florida's largest cargo port as measured by annual tons throughput, followed by the Port of Jacksonville. However, the Tampa port director is restricted to one of the lowest spending limits of all Florida ports at $15,000. In comparison, the Jacksonville limit is $250,000. Proponents of the bill claim this limitation hinders the Tampa port director's ability to respond efficiently to commercial opportunities as a vote must be held before any more than $15,000 is spent.

The bill does not have a fiscal impact on state or local funds.

This takes effect upon becoming law.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Present Situation

Chapter 95-488, L.O.F., as amended, contains the enabling legislation and serves as the governing document of the Tampa Port Authority in Hillsborough County, Florida. Section 4(i) requires that four of the seven members constituting the port authority board must affirmatively vote to allow

(1) incurring indebtedness in excess of $15,000,
(2) spending any funds or money in excess of $15,000, and
(3) establishing policy for the port director's expenditure of funds.

The provision relating to spending limits the port director's ability to respond to commercial opportunities as a meeting must be called and vote held before the director may make a purchase or enter a contract over $15,000. This spending limit was established in 1995. Furthermore, this provision may be interpreted as requiring four votes even if a policy has been adopted relating to the port director's spending limits.

Of Florida's 15 ports, the Port of Tampa has the highest annual volume of cargo throughput at 37.15 million tons, followed by the Port of Jacksonville with 23.21 million tons.[1] The Port of Tampa sees the fifth highest volume of cruise revenue passengers in the state.[2] The other ports most comparable to that of Tampa in terms of annual cargo amounts and cruise passengers are those in Miami, Jacksonville, and Everglades. The port directors at these facilities have significantly higher spending limits than the Tampa port director: Miami, $5 million; Jacksonville, $250,000; Everglades, $250,000 (supplies) and $100,000 (services).[3] Port Manatee is a Gulf port south of Tampa with a $50,000 spending limit, 8.03 million tons of cargo annually, and no cruise passengers.

Spending limits vary widely throughout the state as the ports are structured differently, some being county entities (such as Port Everglades and Miami) and others are governed by local bill authorities (such as Tampa).

Effect of Proposed Changes

This bill amends ch. 95-488, L.O.F., by eliminating the requirement for four affirmative votes for port director expenditures in excess of $15,000. This modification of the Tampa Port Authority Enabling Act leaves the four vote requirement for establishing port director spending policy, allowing the port authority to determine the spending limit instead of the Legislature. This bill does not change the procurement procedures involving notice and competitive bidding for purchases over $15,000, but only removes the requirement of a favorable vote before the port director spends over $15,000.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends ch. 95-488, L.O.F., as amended, removing language requiring an affirmative vote of the port authority to allow any expenditure in excess of $15,000.

Section 2: Provides that the Act takes effect upon becoming a law.

These programs are subject to annual appropriation by the Legislature.

The bill has an effective date of July 1, 2013.

FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund

The Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund (QTI), established in 1995, serves to attract new high quality, high wage jobs for Floridians. Tax refunds are made to qualifying, pre-approved businesses creating new jobs within Florida's target industries. All QTI projects include a performance-based contract with the state, which outlines specific milestones that must be achieved and verified by the state prior to payment of refunds.

This incentive requires that 20 percent of the award comes from the local city or county government, but that may be reduced by one-half for a qualified target industry business located in the counties of Bay, Escambia, Franklin, Gadsden, Gulf, Jefferson, Leon, Okaloosa, Santa Rosa, Wakulla or Walton. The reduction in local match is determined by the Department of Economic Opportunity and based on a determination that the project facilitates economic development, growth, or new employment within the previously referenced counties, and is in the best interest of the state.

The program also requires that a project must propose to create at least 10 new jobs, or in the case of a business expansion must result in a net increase in employment of at least 10 percent at that business. The jobs proposed to be created or retained must pay an average annual wage of at least 115% of the average private sector wage in the area where the business is located, or the statewide private sector average wage. The statewide private sector average wage being used currently is $40,555[1].

The amount of the refund is based on the average wages paid by the business, number of jobs created, and where in the state the eligible business chooses to locate or expand. The minimum tax refund is $3,000 per employee, and the maximum amount is $11,000 per employee over the term of the incentive agreement. Jobs created in rural communities and enterprise zones, as well as those paying higher annual average wages, are eligible for more incentives.

Since the inception of the QTI program, 1,134 applications have been approved, 967 contracts have been executed, and 97 agreements have been completed. Of those 967 projects, 335 remain active, meaning they are eligible to receive refunds through the QTI program. These 335 projects have committed to create 45,157 jobs cumulatively. The 97 completed agreements cumulatively created 19,694 new jobs, 600 more than the initial commitment to create 19,094. In fiscal year 2011-2012, $58,063,500 in QTI incentives were awarded.[2]

Qualified Defense and Space Contractor Tax Refund

The Qualified Defense and Space Contractor Tax Refund (QDSC), established in 1996, serves to attract new high quality, high wage jobs for Floridians in the defense and space industries. Tax refunds are made to qualifying, pre-approved businesses bidding on new competitive contracts or consolidating existing defense or space contracts. This incentive is a partnership between the State and local community—20 percent of the award comes from the local city or county government. All QDSC projects include a performance-based contract with the State of Florida, which outlines specific milestones that must be achieved and verified by the State prior to payment of refunds.

Like QTI, the program requires that jobs created by a QDSC project have an average annual wage of at least 115% of the average private sector wage in the area where the business is located, or the statewide private sector average wage.

The amount of the refund is based on the average wages paid by the business, number of jobs created, and where in the state the eligible business chooses to locate or expand. The minimum tax refund is $3,000 per employee, and the maximum amount is $8,000 per employee over the term of the incentive agreement.

Since the QDSC project's inception, 22 QDSC applications have been approved, 15 contracts have been executed, and 5 projects have been completed. Of those 15 executed contracts, 6 remain active. These 6 projects have committed to create 418 cumulative jobs. The 5 completed projects cumulatively created 1,521 new jobs, exceeding their commitment to create 795 new jobs. In fiscal year 2011-2012, $2,180,000 in QDSC incentives were awarded.[3]

QTI/QDSC Program Limits

Sections 288.106 and 288.1045, Florida Statutes, set the criteria for the QTI and QDSC programs. Included in these criteria are limits on awards for qualified projects under both programs. The limits include:

- The QTI and QDSC programs limit applicants to 25 percent of the total tax refunds in any given fiscal year.
- The QDSC program limits applicants to $2.5 million in tax refunds in any given fiscal year.
- The QTI program limits applicants to $1.5 million in tax refunds in any given fiscal year or $2.5 million if the project is located within an enterprise zone.
- The QDSC program limits applicants to $7 million in tax refunds over all fiscal years.
- The QTI program limits applicants to $7 million in tax refunds over all fiscal years, or $7.5 million if the project is located within an enterprise zone.

Proposed Changes

The bill eliminates the maximum amount of tax refunds a business could receive over all fiscal years for the QTI and QDSC programs. The limits imposed on the percentage of total award and dollar amount a qualified project could receive in a single fiscal year would remain in effect.

B. SECTION DIRECTORY:

Section 1: Amends s. 288.1045 F.S., by removing program limits for applicants to the Qualified Defense Contractor or Space Flight Business Tax Refund Program.

Section 2: Amends s. 288.106 F.S., by removing program limits for applicants to the Qualified Target Industry Tax Refund Program.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

[3] Enterprise Florida, Inc, 2012 Annual Incentive Report; 2012

None.

2. Expenditures:

This bill could increase the number of businesses who would qualify for future awards by removing a lifetime cap on receipt of the eligible tax refunds. The amount of additional awards, if any, is unknown. However, both the QTI and QDSC programs' funding are subject to an annual appropriation in the General Appropriation Act, so any additional impact would require specific Legislative appropriation. Further, both programs are included in an annual cap of $35 million in total awards issued by the Department of Economic Opportunity for programs funded through the Economic Development Incentives Account[4].

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

None.

2. Expenditures:

None.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

The bill would increase the number of jobs created or retained in the state if additional businesses that qualify for the tax refund programs decide to locate or expand in Florida as a result of the programs.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

None.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

The bill does not require a municipality or county to expend funds or to take any action requiring the expenditure of funds. The bill does not reduce the authority that municipalities or counties have to raise revenues in the aggregate. The bill does not require a reduction of the percentage of state tax shared with municipalities or counties.

2. Other:

None.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

None.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

None.
