18 of state and federal agencies likely to have information about 19 the person, inquiries of appropriate utility and postal 20 providers, a thorough search of at least one electronic database 21 specifically designed for locating persons, and inquiries of 22 appropriate law enforcement agencies.

24 provided in s. 765.101(12).

25 Section 2. Section 752.01, Florida Statutes, is repealed.

26 Section 3. Section 752.011, Florida Statutes, is created 27 to read:

28 752.011 Petition for grandparent visitation of a minor
29 child.—A grandparent of a minor child whose parents are

31 one parent is deceased, missing, or in a persistent vegetative 32 state and whose other parent has been convicted of a felony or

34 substantial threat of harm to the minor child's health or 35 welfare, may petition the court for court-ordered visitation
36 with the grandchild under this section.

37 (1) Upon the filing of a petition by a grandparent for 38 visitation, the court shall hold a preliminary hearing to 39 determine whether the petitioner has made a prima facie showing
40 of parental unfitness or significant harm to the child. Absent
41 such a showing, the court shall dismiss the petition and may 42 award reasonable attorney fees and costs to be paid by the 43 petitioner to the respondent.

Amendment No. 1

44 (2) If the court finds that there is prima facie evidence 45 that a parent is unfit or that there is significant harm to the 46 child, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem and shall refer 47 the matter to family mediation as provided in s. 752.015. If 48 family mediation does not successfully resolve the issue of 49 grandparent visitation, the court shall proceed with a final

4 Amendment

5 Remove lines 50-86 and insert:

6 (3) Any law enforcement officer may, upon receipt of a
7 sworn affidavit of the party entitled to possession that a
8 person who is a transient occupant is unlawfully detaining
9 residential property, direct a transient occupant to surrender
10 possession of residential property. The sworn affidavit must set 11 forth the facts, including the applicable factors listed in 12 paragraph (1) (a), which establish that a transient occupant is 13 unlawfully detaining residential property.

14 (a) A person who fails to comply with the direction of the 15 law enforcement officer to surrender possession or occupancy
16 violates s. 810.08. In any prosecution of a violation of s.
17 810.08 related to this section, whether the defendant was

Amendment No. 2

18 properly classified as a transient occupant is not an element of 19 the offense, the state is not required to prove that the 20 defendant was in fact a transient occupant, and the defendant's
21 status as a permanent resident is not an affirmative defense.

22 (b) A person wrongfully removed pursuant to this 23 subsection has a cause of action for wrongful removal against 24 the person who requested the removal, and may recover injunctive 25 relief and compensatory damages. However, a wrongfully removed 26 person does not have a cause of action against the law
27 enforcement officer or the agency employing the law enforcement
28 officer absent a showing of bad faith by the law enforcement 29 officer.

30 (4) A party entitled to possession of a dwelling has a
31 cause of action for unlawful detainer against a transient
32 occupant pursuant to s. 82.04. The party entitled to possession
33 is not required to notify the transient occupant before filing
34 the action. If the court finds the defendant is not a transient
35 occupant but is instead a tenant of residential property
36 governed by part II of chapter 83, the court may not dismiss the 37 action without first allowing the plaintiff to give the 38 transient occupant notice required by that part and to 39 thereafter amend the complaint to pursue eviction under that 40 part.
