Committee meeting was reported out: Tuesday, March 17, 2015 3:51:21PM

Mr. Chairman, members of the Committee, my fellow residents of the great state of Florida: My name is Roxanne Manzone, I am a transgendered resident of Ocala.

I am here this morning to give my opinion on HB583 , part of which addresses specific crimes in public facilities. Even though the bill doesn't mention Transgendered Persons, that's who it's aimed at.

Unfortunately, the Representative offers NO statistics, documented incidents, expert testimony, from ANY statewide Law Enforcement Organization, or State Attorneys to justify this law. This is a "What if law" – Why now is there a 'Potential' for crimes in restrooms The Representative was quoted as saying "This is a public safety issue" well, aren't we all at risk to be victims of the mentioned crimes anywhere in public? In my 27 years of Law Enforcement in Ocala, I never investigated a single case of any crime in a "Public Facility" involving a Transgendered person or ever heard of one.

I'd like to address the Republican Committee members this morning....

I'm going to quote a few of the lines in your Mission Statement : freedom, liberty, personal responsibility, and accountability, fiscally-sound, common-sense solutions that will promote job and economic growth. and create a path to prosperity for Florida and America. We will serve as a model for other party organizations.

Let's look at this bill and how it goes against your values as Republicans: Big Government intruding into our lives – It's burdensome on business, You also champion Tort Reform -This Bill also creates Civil penalties, more law suits. We want to attract people to live here, you think this bill would help?

Gov Scott has stated: Making Florida a global destination for jobs, this bill will certainly not help . Do you as Floridians want the legacy of passing the first Bill in the country legalizing discrimination? I think not.

If you are true to your Republican values, you must vote against the bill. Thank You.

Max Harmony

Remarks before the House Subcommittee on Government Operations

Honourable Chair, members of the Committee,

This bill, though it purports to have noble purposes, is terrible. It claims its goal is to prevent crimes such as assault, battery, molestation, rape, voyeurism, and exhibitionism. But these are already crimes; the people who commit these acts are criminals, and by definition, criminals do not care about the law.

Assault and molestation are second-degree misdemeanours, punishable by sixty days in jail and a fine of five hundred dollars. Battery, exhibitionism, and voyeurism are first-degree misdemeanours, punishable by a year in jail and a fine of one thousand dollars. Rape is a second-degree felony, punishable by fifteen years in prison and a fine of ten thousand dollars. Is it likely that a person willing to overlook these punishments will be deterred by this bill? In the case of those first-degree misdemeanours, the extension to their sentence would make them eligible for gain time, potentially reducing the actual time they serve.

Some people, of course, may believe that committing such crimes in a restroom, a place in which many people feel simultaneously safer and more vulnerable, should receive a more severe punishment for reasons other than deterrence. I understand that impulse. For those people, I would recommend reviewing Senate Bill 1464, which is not only more narrowly tailored — punishing only those who actually commit or intend to commit these crimes — but provides for stronger punishment.

This bill casts an unworkably wide net. So far, the bill has collected eight exemptions. Who knows what other exemptions will be found to be needed should this bill be put into practice? Mostly, though, this bill unjustly targets trans people. Yes, it has been amended to allow trans people who have changed the gender designation on their driving licence or passport to use the appropriate restroom. But these documents aren't cheap. Besides the direct costs of the documents, trans people must often pay for numerous doctor's visits, sometimes seeing several different doctors, in order to get the letter that allows them to change their gender marker. A few years ago, the National Gay and Lesbian Task Force and the National Centre for Transgender Equality published a report on employment discrimination against trans people. They found that trans people are more than four times more likely than the general population to live on an income of ten thousand dollars a year or less, and that forty-seven per cent of trans people have been fired, not hired, or denied a promotion due to their trans status. The expense of updating these documents can be prohibitive.

The bill also uses the terms "biological male" and "biological female", but does not define these terms. Does this refer to the sex one is designated at birth, determined by the size of the size and shape of the genitals? Does it mean whether or not a person has Y chromosomes, or perhaps the SRY gene specifically? Keep in mind that few people know their chromosomes (and fewer still their genes), and that a 2013 study in the International Journal of Cancer found that many women who have been pregnant with a foetus bearing a Y chromosome, even if they miscarried before they knew they were pregnant, retain some Y-chromosomal tissue. Or, perhaps, are these terms based on primary or secondary sexual characteristics?

A member of the Subcommittee on Civil Justice voted for this bill, he said, because Florida is a family-friendly state. But how "family-friendly" is it to force trans people to use the bathroom that subjects them to enormous risk of the very crimes this bill claims to prevent? Trans people, like everyone else, need to use the bathroom. In fact, the most common anti-androgenic medication in the United States, spironolactone, is primarily indicated as a diuretic; its anti-androgenic properties are merely fortunate side effects.

This is a dangerous and discriminatory bill. It forces Florida businesses and schools to choose between complying with state or with federal law. I urge you all to make a strong and decisive statement against it.

Again, honourable Chair, members of the Committee, I thank you for your time.

TAXPAYERS FOR SUSTAINABLE PENSIONS

FLORIDA CHAMBER FOUNDATION

Dear Representative Adkins:

FLORIDA LEAGUE OF CITIES

Across the state of Florida, cities have amassed nearly $11 billion in unfunded pension liabilities. Florida cities will be forced to pay off these debts by assessing and collecting additional taxes and fees from residents, or cutting city services, such as parks and recreation, trash collection, public works, community maintenance, or even public safety officer positions. This pension debt is directly affecting the quality of life in Florida communities, and unless reforms are undertaken quickly, the debt will continue to climb.

FLORIDA TAXWATCH

LERROY COLLINS INSTITUTE

NATIONAL FEDERATION OF INDEPENDENT BUSINESS

The Taxpayers for Sustainable Pensions is a coalition of individual policy groups dedicated to municipal pension reform across the state. Coalition members are committed to researching solutions to Florida's municipal pension problems and working with key stakeholders to achieve responsible reform that accounts for employee security, long-term sustainability, transparency and accountability.

R STREET INSTITUTE

REASON FOUNDATION

Sustainable, affordable, and fair pensions for municipal police officers and firefighters can be achieved with comprehensive legislative reforms, to include:

- Clearly stating pension benefit levels, employee contributions and use of insurance premium tax revenues are subject to negotiations between cities and police and fire unions during collective bargaining;
- Removing legislative mandates on police and fire pension benefit levels, such as the "extra benefits" requirement;
- Removing legislative mandates on the composition and authority of police and fire pension boards of trustees;
- Providing options and incentives for cities to consider for placing police and fire in the Florida Retirement System; and
- Reforming disability presumptions for police and fire.

TAXPAYERS FOR SUSTAINABLE PENSIONS

We hope you will consider these reform options as you design a proposal to control costs in Florida's municipal pension plans, and ensure long-term sustainability and financial security for taxpayers and the public safety employees who dutifully serve the communities of the Sunshine State.

AMERICANS FOR PROSPERITY

Sincerely,
